OPA Officials Fear Eastern Service Stations Will Be Sold Out.

SALES GO UNCURBED

3,000,000 Motorists Expected To 'Tank Up' Before They Get Cards Friday.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Price administration officials today expressed fears that motorists will exhaust the supplies of east coast filling stations before gasoline rationing begins next week.

They anticipate a "rush" by the Atlantic seaboard's 3,000,000 "non essential" motorists to "tank up" before the restrictions are effective, which may result in the "sold out" sign hanging from gas pumps from Maine to Florida.

Rationing will commence next Friday and unlike the procedure followed during sugar rationing, gasoline sales will not be halted next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday as some 10,000,000 car owners in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia register for ration cards.

Of the 10,000,000 motorists who will register, only about one-third—according to Price Administrator Leon Henderson—will feel the full severity of gasoline rationing.

The 3,000,000 "non-essential" users of motor fuel—Sunday drivers, etc.—will be restricted to from two to three gallons of gasoline a week during the 45 days that the temporary rationing program is in effect.

Special considerations will be made for the other two thirds, those who need cars in their work and physicians, ministers, nurses, messengers, taxis and truckers. Many will be able to obtain an unlimited supply of gasoline.

It will be the "non-essential" drivers who will deluge filling sta-

Types of Ships Japs Lost In Heavy Pacific Battle

Here are three types of warships lost by the Japanese in the heavy defeat administered by U. S. and allied ships and planes in the southwest Pacific during a five-day battle which General MacArthur today announced had ceased with the enemy in flight. Top is a heavy cruiser; center, an aircraft carrier; below, a destroyer. Map at right shows the Solomon Islands and Coral sea in which the biggest naval battle of the war took place.

Russians Claim 60,000 Nazis Slain or Wounded During Two Months of Fighting.

(By United Press)

LONDON — British bomber pilots plastered another German Baltic port with hundreds of bombs last night and although 19 planes were lost in the operation, the air ministry reportedly was well satisfied with the results.

The main objective was the submarine training base at Warnemunde, only eight miles from Rostock, the Baltic port that was raided for four nights running last week and virtually demolished by the hundreds of tons of bombs dumped on the big Heinkle airplane works and other targets there.

Warnemunde, on the Warne river, also has an important plane factory and it is the southern terminus for a ferry line to Denmark along which supplies have been moving to German troops.

The air ministry said approximately 250 tons of bombs were showered on Warnemunde. For the leveling of Coventry the Germans used only 125 tons of explosives.

A big force of planes swept over the channel toward Calais about 2 p. m., and shortly thereafter the explosions from the Invasion of Australia Blocked; American Losses Reported Light; Foe Repulsed, Attacks Will Continue, M'Arthur Declares; Scorns Tokyo Claims.

(By United Press)

GENERAL M'ARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia — United States and Allied naval and air forces have repulsed with heavy losses, at comparatively light cost, a Japanese invasion fleet in the greatest sea battle of the war, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

"The great naval and air battle off the northeast coast of Australia has temporarily ceased. . . . the enemy has been repulsed. Our attacks will continue," MacArthur said in one terse dramatic communique.

"The enemy version of the battling off the northeast coast of Australia is entirely fictional. . . . Our losses compared to those of the Japanese were relatively light," he said in a second, issued several hours later.

First eye-witness reports from the battle scene told how United States Navy dive bombers and torpedo planes shrieked down on the Japanese fleet into an inferno of anti-aircraft fire to blow one aircraft carrier to pieces and set a second aflame from stem to stern.

By their victory, United States naval and aerial forces with Allied support had thrown back a bid to invade Australia and had given the Japanese their first big-scale naval defeat in their short history as a world power.

Sinking or damaging at least 17 enemy vessels, including one and probably two aircraft carriers, two heavy cruisers, two light cruisers, a 9,000 ton seaplane tender, two destroyers and four gunboats, they had definitely repulsed the Japanese in a blazing five day battle of the Coral sea.

After reporting the cessation of the battle, and promising that Allied attacks would continue, MacArthur said tonight in his communique No. 22 from his general headquarters:

"The enemy version of the battling off the northeast coast of Australia is entirely fictional and has no semblance of a true communique of fact.

"It must be regarded in the light of propaganda rather than of a military report.

"Japanese claims of damage inflicted on our naval forces are fantastic.

"Our losses compared with those of the Japanese were relatively light.

"The only reason they are not published at present is because it would reveal valuable information."

Japan had claimed the sinking of two American aircraft carriers, an American battleship and three destroyers, the destruction of 89 Allied planes, and the damaging of a British battleship, an Australian cruiser and an unidentified cruiser.

It had admitted the loss of a small Japanese aircraft carrier, "converted from an oil tanker," and 31 planes.

But it was known definitely that at least 13 enemy warships had been sunk or damaged, far from their nearest haven, and final reports were still to come from the United States warships and planes pursuing the repulsed enemy fleet.

(The Australian radio, heard by the United Press in London, said: "There is no doubt that the Japanese invasion fleet concentrated in northern Australian waters has been

Defeat Eases Threat of Jap Invasion Thrust at China

(By United Press)

CHUNGKING—The threat of a Japanese invasion of China from Burma was eased today by the sharp defeat they had suffered around Chefang, 20 miles inside the Chinese border, and by the pounding American Volunteer Group fliers had given them in western Yunnan province.

The Chinese reported in a communique yesterday that they had fiercely counter-attacked the Japanese on the Burma Road northeast of Wanting, killed 1,000 and trapped 400 more in the rugged Salween gorges along the road. The Chinese were reported trying to wipe out the trapped Japanese.

The AVG raided Japanese troops and trucks on Thursday. They found no enemy air activity.

The Chinese said they had "completely annihilated" a unit of the Japanese in their counter-attack, Thursday afternoon. They counter-attacked when Japanese troops, advancing along the road from Wanting split into two groups after the arrival of reinforcements in trucks and attacked the Chinese on both flanks and in the rear.

The Chinese said they, "in a most ferocious battle," wiped out one Japanese group, killing half of the other and bottled the remnants up in the gorges. The Chinese Central news

PAYS MOTHERS TRIBUTE SUNDAY

City Prepares to Observe Wartime Mother's Day With Special Rites.

Mansfield will join with the rest of the nation tomorrow in observing America's first war-time Mother's Day in a quarter of a century.

Always an occasion for tender sentiment, the day will have special meaning this year because of the war. Many sons in the service of their country are unable to be at home, and many others will be leaving shortly for the service.

To do honor to mothers, special services of sermons and music are planned in Mansfield churches. The tradition of wearing flowers will be observed—white flowers for those mothers who are gone and colored flowers for the living.

Florists were winding up a week of "land-office" business today, and sales of other customary Mother's Day gift items such as candy and hosiery have been unusually high.

Telegraph companies report a rush of remembrance telegrams, and greeting cards have been mailed in great quantities.

The most eagerly-looked-for Mother's Day messages were those which come in the "post-

DRIVE EXTENDED

County's Bond Pledge Canvass Will End Tuesday.

Extension of the Richland county war bond pledge canvass until Tuesday noon was announced today by Paul M. Eliot, chairman of the county bond sale committee.

Eliot reported the canvass is proceeding satisfactorily, but that several more days of work will be necessary to complete the job of contacting income-earners throughout the county for a pledge of the bonds and stamps they intend to purchase. The drive originally was scheduled to close tonight.

A number of persons have been missed because they were not at home when workers called, Eliot said. An effort is being made to see all these persons with "call-backs," but to insure that all will be reached, Eliot asked anyone not yet contacted to telephone the war savings bond office.

The office is located at 1008 Farmers Bank building, and the telephone number is 3544-6.

Father, Mother, Son Perish as Fire Destroys Cabin.

HAMMONTON, N. J.—(INS)—A family of three—father, mother and son—were burned to death today when flames destroyed their four-room log cabin on the bank of Atsion lake, seven miles north of Hammonton.

The victims were Richard Richardson, 34, Philadelphia stock broker; his wife, Elizabeth, 26, and their son, David, seven. All apparently died in their sleep.

Top Speed of 40 Miles an Hour Urged for Drivers

Mayor Follows Up 'Walk to Work' Appeal With Request for Slower Speed As Conservation Means.

Mayor W. J. Locke, who called upon Mansfield residents Tuesday to "walk to work each morning" to save automobile tires, today made an appeal to motorists to drive under speeds of 40 miles an hour while on the highways as a further means of saving on tires.

Mayor Locke, in issuing the appeal at the request of federal and state civilian defense officials, warned motorists "when you wear out one tire, you'll have to fall back on your spare, when you wear out another, the other three won't be any good to you."

State and federal officials are considering compulsory observance of a 40-mile speed limit because they claim that tires wear more at higher speeds.

Mayor Locke attended a state conference of mayors at Columbus last week to get instructions on local campaigns to conserve civilian tires supplies and to set up "swap-ride" programs to save the tires of industrial workers.

On Tuesday, the mayor asked all Mansfielders to "walk whenever possible." At that time, Locke pointed out that most people lived relatively close to downtown shops, factories or places of business and it would not be "too great a hardship for every person in Mansfield to walk to work each morning."

JURY CALLED

Ashland Grand Jurors Probe Hold-up Tuesday.

The Ashland county grand jury has been called into special session for Tuesday to consider the cases of three Cleveland youths now being held in Ashland county jail on charges of robbery in connection with the hold-up of the Bank restaurant in Loudonville on April 27.

County Prosecutor Ross A. Siverling said today that the cases of Mike Pietro, 22, Dino Valerian, 22, and William Milite, 20, all of Cleveland, would be presented to the grand jury.

State highway patrolmen said that the trio has signed confessions admitting the hold-up of Lewis Stone, restaurant proprietor, his wife, and two customers in Loudonville on April 27. The Cleveland men were traced through a check of automobile license registrations.

JACK UP CARS TO STEAL TIRES

Thief Removes Rubber From Two Parked Autos During Night, Police Told.

Automobile tire thieves who stole four tires from two automobiles in the east end of the city last night apparently didn't believe in half way measures.

Instead of confining themselves to stealing wheels and tires from rear compartments as in the past, the thieves jacked up two automobiles and took the rear wheels of both autos.

Police reported today that two tires and wheels had been stolen from an automobile parked in the Howard Lintz used car lot at 135 Ashland road and that the thieves had entered a nearby garage and performed a similar operation on the automobile of Mrs. Sue Cline, 168 Wayne street.

Lintz told police that the theft occurred after he had closed the lot for business last night. Mrs. Cline reported that she heard a noise near the garage but that she had not discovered the loss of the tires until several hours later.

Lintz estimated his loss at approximately $30 while Mrs. Cline said that the tires taken from her auto were worth $20.

Police said today that they believed the theft may have been committed by some motorist who stole the tires for use on his own vehicle rather than by professional thieves who steal tires for resale.

SON MISSING

Willard Mother Gets Message From Navy Department.

WILLARD — Gerald Shields, 23, of Willard, today was reported "missing" and is presumed to have lost his life, according to a message received by his mother, Mrs Verda Shields, from the Navy Department.

He was the first of Willard's sons to be reported lost in World war No. 2.

The message contained no details, but stated simply that he was reported missing. Shields had been in the Navy for some time, and in recent months was known to have been in active service in the Pacific theater of war.

FROST HITS AS MERCURY DIPS

Crop Damage Believed Light; Warmer Weather Due.

Light frost was reported in sections of Richland county this morning as the mercury fell to 38 degrees, but damage was believed slight.

Warmer weather was forecast for this afternoon and tonight with showers probable tonight. It will be cooler again after the rain, the forecast said.

The low reading this morning held the average temperature for the past 24 hours to 52 degrees, 4 below normal. The noon temperature today was 60. Yesterday's high was 66.

Sales Tax Receipts Drop Over Half Million in April.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Prepaid sales tax receipts for the four weeks ended April 25 were $587,492 less than collected in the corresponding period last year, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright announced today.

The decrease again was directly attributable to auto rationing, as receipts from this field alone fell from $1,395,106 collected in 1941 to $352,052 the last period.

THE WAR TODAY

By DE WITT M'KENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

Word from General MacArthur's headquarters is that the Allied naval and air forces (mainly American) have won a phase of the battle of the Coral sea, and still are in the mood to attack the Japanese fleet, which appears to have retired.

We have a right to take encouragement from this statement, which may be summarized thus:

"The great naval and air battle off the northeast coast of Australia has temporarily ceased. x x x the enemy has been repulsed. x x x his claims of damage inflicted on our naval forces are fantastic. Our loses compared with his own are relatively light. x x x our attacks will continue."

It would be foolish to try to read between the lines. We shall just have to contain ourselves until we get the details.

We must know how badly we have hurt the enemy—whether his withdrawal is tactical or due to great weakness—what losses we ourselves have suffered — the sizes of the two forces engaged.

Until we received General MacArthur's word that the Japs were lying about the damage inflicted on us, and that our losses are relatively light, we had no way of Judging how the battle went.

The Allies claimed eleven Japanese ships sunk and six badly damaged, while the enemy said they had sunk an American battleship, two United States aircraft carriers, and damaged two other Allied ships.

On the face of it that didn't look too good for us, because many of the Nipponese ships sunk were small and the loss of striking power in a battleship might offset much of the damage to the enemy. However, now that we are assured the Japs are fictionizing, we feel better.

Yesterday one noted a good deal of uneasiness among the public because of these figures and some rather strong statements by Australian officials. Prime Minister Curtin declared that "invasion is a menace capable hourly of becoming an actuality." Former Prime Minister William Hughes rose in the house of representatives to cry: "To the ramparts, then, Australians and brace yourselves for the great struggle that looks darkly ahead."

But Mr. Curtin's statement seemed to be primarily for home consumption to put people on their toes. As for Billy Hughes, whom I knew well back in the first World war days, he has a penchant for strident language.

However, the American public has to take these things at face value and some commentators even extracted gloom from these statements.

It is likely that the Japanese have been aiming at cutting the American lines of communication with Australia and thus neutralizing the value of this great and growing base which looms as a grave menace to Nippon and her ill-gotten conquests. If we are in process of inflicting a heavy defeat on the Japs in the battle of the Coral sea then the threat to our communications will be relieved, the Australians will have far less cause to fear invasion, and the striking power of the American base in Australia will increase, bringing nearer the happy day when we can launch a full-blown offensive.

There is another important point which we mustn't overlook. The Japanese have had numerical naval superiority in the Pacific, and any serious lessening of our naval striking power might enable the Japs to embark on fresh projects.

The fly in the ointment for Japan, however, is that despite any immediate success they will be beaten in the long run because of our superior resources and facilities for production. Japan cannot build ships at the rate at which they have been sunk since the war started. Sooner or later they must crack up.

BROADWAY

Broadway Fallacies.

(No. 1—That Little Acorns Do Not Grow Into Big Oaks!)

I accuse handsome Bill Corum and his brethren on the sports pages of spreading this one.

It seems that John L. Sullivan and James J. Jeffries and Jim Corbett never had sons who became champions in the art of swat. Nor did Ty Cobb or Honus Wagner have sons who piled up baseball records for the books. And it is certainly true that Rockne and Oliphant and Brickley never had lads who made All-American teams.

Kilgallen

Of course, an offspring from a tennis family or a billiard clan would make the grade every decade or so—but not enough of them to appease the Corum fameclique.

Well, suppose it's not true in sports. It's true in other fields. Stick around. Listen.

Start with the movies. (You know about the movies, Bill. "The Pride of the Yankees" and Mark Hellinger's "Rise and Shine," which was about football, and "Tom Harmon of Michigan?" Sure you do!)

The movies—or to coin a phrase, the talkies—are full of shining examples of what I'm trying to prove. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., now of Uncle Sam's Navy, broke into pictures when Doug, Sr., was still one of the greats in that field. There were a few dissenters at the begining of his career, but young Doug brushed them off and zoomed to the heights . . . Tyrone Power Jr. crashed Hollywood's gate tagged heavily as the pretty-boy son of a great actor father. How do you like his income tax bracket? . . . Rita Hayworth, figure beautiful enough to get a tour or five column spread in a swim suit in any paper, is the daughter of the famous dancing Cansinos . . . The Zelznick boys and Carl Laemmle, Jr., didn't let papa's name scare them a bit, and they do pretty well . . . Ida Lupino, daughter of Stanley, is touted as "the new Bette Davis," and Broderick Crawford, son of Helen Broderick, isn't exactly looking for work around the fabulous Hollywood lots these days.

So, let's hop three thousand miles to the stage. (You know the stage, fellows: "Male Animal" and "Good News," about football; "Follow Through," that was golf! "Elmer the Great," baseball) . . . The Pat Rooneys, who followed Pat and First, became vaude headliners long before Gene Sarazen wore his first pair of knickers, and remained there until Sam Snead copped prize money . . . Richard Bennett didn't believe it could happen—but look at Connie, Barbara and Joan. They did . . . Did you ever hear of the Eddie Foy brood, boys? . . . And the Barrymores? . . . Ah, there . . . Gilbert Miller, Henry's son, doesn't need an introduction or an explanation . . . Nor does J. C.'s son, Elliott Nugent.

Take a look at the magnificent dancing Hartmans—Paul is the son of Ferris Hartman, founder of the San Francisco Opera Company and, in his day, as great on the West Coast as Ziegfeld was on our street . . . Ed Wynn's son, Keenan, who won flattering reviews from the drama critics every time he stepped on a stage, now holds a sweet movie contract . . . In the writing world, Eve Curie, daughter of the great scientist, has made quite a dent. And Erika Mann didn't let the fame of father jinx her . . . Young Bud Schulberg completely eclipsed whatever fame pop had as a movie producer by writing just one book—a tome called "What Makes Sammy Run" . . . Then there's John Huston, one of Hollywood's top writers and directors; being Walter Huston's son didn't stymie him.

WOULD CUT U. S. WAR REVENUE BY TWO BILLIONS

House Committee Considers Plan Which Would Boost Income Taxes.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The house ways and means committee today considered a proposal by its own staff of experts to cut the administration's 1943 war revenue program by some $2,000,000,000.

The staff, headed by Colin E. Stam, recommended a revised schedule of levies on individual income which would increase collections by only $1,900,000,000 annually, compared with the treasury's requested $4,300,000,000.

It still was too early for a definite indication on what the committee's final decision will be but in the last two years the committee has resolved most disputes between the staff and the treasury in favor of its own experts.

It was indicated that if the committee adopted the Stam proposal over the treasury's request the difference probably would be made up by a general sales tax.

Stam yesterday suggested an increase from four to six per cent in the normal individual income tax and retention of present exemptions and the 10 per cent earned income credit on earnings up to $14,000.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., proposed Thursday that exemptions be cut from $1,500 to $1,200 for married couples, $750 to $600 for single persons, from $1,500 to $1,200 for married couples, and dependency exemptions from $400 to $300. He urged retention of the present four per cent normal tax rate but favored scrapping of the earned income credit.

Under the Stam plan a family with one child earning $3,000 a year who this year paid $58 would be required to pay $118 —the same amount as under the treasury's original program of March 3. Under Morgenthau's new proposal, such a family would pay $206.

Stam's plan would call for surtaxes ranging from 11 to 80 per cent, compared with the treasury's proposed range of 12 to 86 per cent.

The committee recessed until Monday and Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D., N. C., indicated a vote may be taken on the individual income tax measures of the 1942 war revenue program by the middle of next week.

NAMED AGAIN

Humane Society Officers to Serve Another Year.

Philip Wolfe, president of the Mansfield humane society, and all other officers of the organization were re-elected at the society's annual meeting Friday afternoon.

Returned to office, in addition to Wolfe, were John H. Finefrock, first vice president; P. M. Wooden, second vice president; Mrs. Elmer Post, secretary; Harry V. Henness, treasurer, and James M. Cook, treasurer emeritus.

Named to the board of directors for three years were Rev. Peter Young, John H. Eisaman, Robert Remy, Rev. Glenn L. Lewis, Robert B. Black, Mrs. George A. Meade, Mrs. Ephraim Brown, Mrs. Wilfred J. Spreng, Mrs. Lester Redding, and Mrs. A. L. Price.

4-WEEK ILLNESS ENDS IN DEATH

NEW WASHINGTON — Violet Mary Merkt, 76, widow of John Merkt, died last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Oray Zerbe, of Mifflin, after a four-week illness.

Born Nov. 9, 1865 in Bascom, O., she lived most of her life in the vicinity of New Washington. She was a member of the New Washington Methodist church.

Surviving are two daughter, Mrs. Zerbe of Tiffin, and Miss Delta Merkt of Mansfield; three brothers, Ira of Lawton, Okla., Charles of Toledo, and Alfred of Fostoria; two grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The body was removed to the Adams-Turner funeral home in Tiffin pending funeral arrangements. Burial will be in Bascom cemetery.

CONFESSES HE KILLED MOTHER

Orrville Man Reports Death of Parent to Physician, Held For Questioning.

(By International News Service)

WOOSTER—Confessing that he was "only following the Lord's instructions," Arch Rhodes Matteson, 33, today admitted the slaying of his mother, Mrs. Ina F. Matteson, 62, according to Wayne county Sheriff E. E. Mills.

The crime was discovered when Matteson walked into the office of Dr. Robert Hecker in Orrville and said "someone killed my mother yesterday afternoon."

Dr. Hecker and a friend drove with Matteson to his Orrville home where the body of Mrs. Matteson was found. She had been killed by blows about the head and there were cuts and bruises on the face, hands and arms.

Matteson, a track supervisor for the Cleveland division of the Pennsylvania railroad, told Mills he recently had received a 1-A classification in the draft and was given a preliminary examination Wednesday. His mother moved to Orrville three years ago from Butler, Pa., to keep house for her son.

Mills said Matteson would be questioned further regarding details of the slaying before he was formally charged.

ASHLAND—Mrs. Laura Ann Williams, 85, died at the home of Mrs. J. B. Kissel, early today following a long illness.

Born in Ashland, she had lived in Mansfield and Cleveland for the past 37 years. She returned here last fall. She was a member of the Trinity Lutheran church.

Surviving is a brother, Charles Kosht.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m., Monday at the Denbow-Baer funeral home. Rev. A. H. Smith will officiate. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

GIVES SERMON

Mrs. Wright To Preach Sunday In Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Helen Holbrook Wright, pastor of the First Church of God, Mansfield, left today for Washington, D. C., where she will deliver the Mother's Day sermon in the new Church of God in the national capital.

She will also sing during the services with her two sisters, Mrs. Mary Robinson of Aberdeen, Md., and Mrs. Eva Claire Kardosy, Anderson, Ind. Formerly known as the Holbrook trio, they were widely known in religious circles.

ENGINEER WOUNDED IN CAB OF TRAIN CARRYING WAR MATERIALS

SANDUSKY—(INS)—Felled by a bullet as he sat at the controls of a New York Central locomotive hauling war materials, F. J. Becker, 53, fought for his life today in Providence hospital as Lorain county authorities investigated the shooting.

Becker, engineer of the freight train and a resident of Port Clinton, regained consciousness in time to bring the train to a halt in Sandusky although Cleveland Cronninger of Toledo, the fireman, took over the throttle when Becker collapsed as the shot pierced his ear and entered his head.

The Lorain county sheriff's office was checking the area around Murray Ridge crossing, three miles west of Elyria, where the engineer was shot.

Albert Becker of Sandusky, brother of the wounded man, was at the throttle of a train directly ahead.

Sheriff's deputies said they believed Becker was struck by a bullet fired from the small rifle of a boy practicing target shooting.

A major portion of the bullet was removed from Becker's head by Dr. H. W. Frederick, who said that the engineer would have died instantly had the missile struck a half inch to either side.

GETS APPROVAL

County's Civilian Defense Council Oked by Bricker.

Richland county's civilian defense council today was certified as an official unit of the Ohio council by Gov. John W. Bricker.

The certification was received by Ray Hout, county defense chairman, who was asked to fill out membership cards for the county committee and return them to Columbus for the governor's signature.

While the county committee has 27 members, including mayors of villages and township trustee chairmen, only nine members will receive cards as heads of civilian defense departments. They are:

Hout as chairman; Sheriff Frank E. Robinson, head of the safety department; Mrs. Marie Menchan, welfare and housing; Howard Hyatt, public utilities; County Engineer Howard Sword, transportation; Boyd Robinson, county school superintendent, education committee; Dr. William Wild, health; County Agent George B. Ganyard, agriculture, and Deputy Sheriff J. R. Hetler, police.

Hout has asked village mayors and chairmen of township trustees to complete their community organizations by next Wednesday.

PAY SPEEDING FINES IN COURT

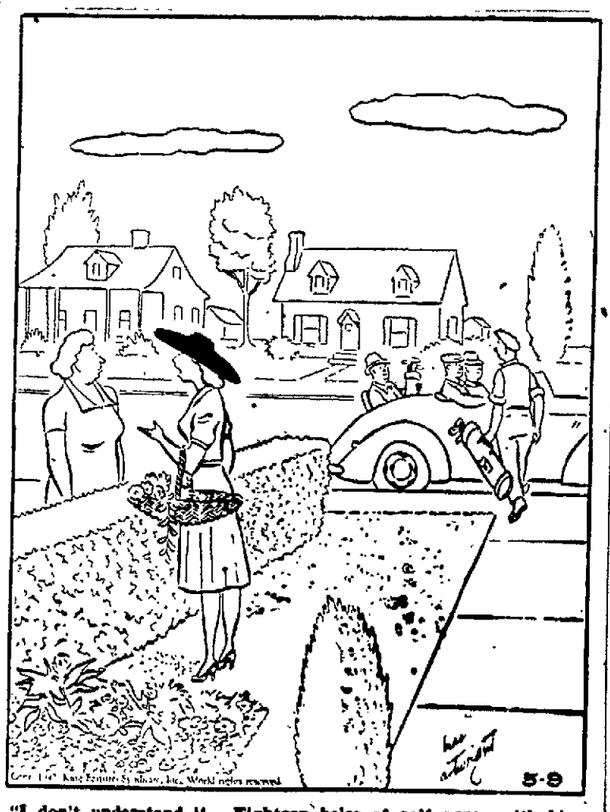
Youths Accused of Racing Autos On Bowman Street.

Two Mansfield youths accused of racing each other in their automobiles last night on Bowman street were fined $10 and costs each in municipal court this morning and had their operator licenses revoked for 60 days.

Police charged that Felton Byrd, Mansfield R. D. 4, and Howard Powers, 121 Sycamore street, were speeding on Bowman street last night. Both pleaded guilty upon arraignment before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch.

Clyde E. Cowell, 344 Bowman street, involved in an automobile collision late Thursday on Springmill street, was fined $50 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. His operator's license was suspended for one year.

Laff-a-Day



"I don't understand it. Eighteen holes of golf agree with him fine, but 19 always give him the hiccups!"

Mother's day "specials" began flooding the mail here today and the Mansfield postoffice is getting ready to do a record delivery job tomorrow. Four special delivery messengers will be on duty all day Sunday to dispatch letters, postcards, flowers, candy and other packages all bearing the "special" stamp. Ordinarily two special messengers are all that are required but the current influx of mail warranted additional help, postal officials said.

Mansfield checker players will have a chance to see Newell D. Banks of Detroit, Mich., the world's champion player, in action again tonight on his annual visit to Mansfield. Banks, who can play blindfolded and participate in several games at the same time, will show his skill at 7 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A. He will play Mansfield checker experts who want to try their luck with him. There will be no charge for the exhibition.

Once again Mansfield crashes the pages of Life, the national picture weekly—this time through a young man well known here. The handsome young man who is the central character in a six-page spread about America's aviation cadets in the Life, May 11 issue, out yesterday, is James Diamond McIlyar, former Galion boy, whose father, W. V. McIlyar, resides in Mansfield at 81 Dawson avenue. The son was born and raised in Galion, and after the death of his mother when he was nine years old he lived with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Diamond in Galion.

Practical jokers who think it amusing to mix salt and sugar in restaurant shakers may find it not quite so amusing if they get caught at it, especially since there's a premium on the use of sugar. Mansfield restaurant owners, peeved by this practice, have inquired into the law and find that persons mixing the sugar and salt might be charged with disorderly conduct and would be liable to a maximum fine of $100.

150 GET NOTICES

Police Letters Warn Drivers To Pay Up Fines.

Mansfield police today had sent out 150 delinquent payment notices to Mansfield motorists for traffic violations committed in April and the first two weeks of May.

Mrs. Helen McIntyre, police record clerk, said that the greatest percentage of notices was for parking meter violations but that several other traffic violations were included.

The notices sent out today warned motorists that they are delinquent in paying fines for violations and that if they do not make immediate payment, they will be subject to arrest and arraignment in municipal court. About 15 persons were arrested for failure to pay delinquent fines last month.

RUNAWAYS BACK HOME 'BROKE'

Two 17-year-old Mansfield girls who found that it's no fun to be hungry and away from home told their stories to Richland county juvenile authorities today.

The girls left home Tuesday and hitch-hiked to Toledo where they ran out of money. Homesick and hungry, they went into the police station and asked that their parents be notified.

The girls' fathers brought them back to Mansfield last night. No charges were filed against the runaways, but they were called into court today with their parents in what court attaches said was a check-up on their home conditions.

FATE OF TEN MORE FLIERS STILL UNKNOWN

Flying Fortress Unreported On Flight From Tampa; Ships Crash In Air.

(By International News Service)

Four persons were dead today and three others missing in recent plane disasters with the fate of ten more in doubt as a flying fortress remained unreported at Tampa, Fla.

At Tacoma, Wash., an army board of inquiry pressed an investigation of the crash of a bombing plane which plunged into Puget Sound and sank on a routine flight, with three aboard.

Listed as missing were Lieut. Col. Perry O. Huff, 41, of Silver Springs, Md.; Capt. C. B. MacPhee, 26, of Tacoma, and Capt. R. C. Alexander, 45, of Seattle.

At Tampa, Fla., army authorities today still were without clue to the fate of the flying fortress which left Macdill Field early Wednesday on a routine flight and disappeared with its complement of 10 men.

The plane had enough gasoline to stay aloft only until Thursday it was said, and fears were expressed that the ship had been forced down in the Gulf of Mexico.

Another investigation was underway at San Antonio, Tex., in the crash of an army plane which cost the life of Nicholas E. LeCompte, jr., 22, of Baltimore, Md., a flying cadet at Randolph Field. The ship crashed during a takeoff.

At Phoenix, Ariz., an army pilot and a civilian flier were dead as the result of a crash between their planes 5,000 feet over a southwestern Phoenix residential district.

The army aviator, Lieut. John K. Austin, of Chicago, was a student in the instructors' school at Luke Field and was flying by instrument while Lt. Jack Scott, of Phoenix, acted as a safety observer. The civilian, Wray B. Smith, of Atlanta, Ga., was serving as a civilian pilot for the army flier command, McChord Field, Wash.

Lieut. Scott parachuted to safety but was injured when his head struck a sidewalk as he landed.

At Santa Maria, Cal., Gordon M. Short, an aviation student and army air force private, was dead today of injuries sustained when his primary training plane crashed late yesterday.

He was the son of Ira Short, of Taunton, Mass. It was the first fatality in 125,000 hours of flying since Hancock College of Aeronautics began training aviation students thirty-four months ago.

BERMUDANS HELP SHIP SURVIVORS

Assist Passengers, Crew Members Landed At Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Bermuda —(INS)— Bermuda relief organizations today were assisting a group of survivors, including Americans, Canadians and British, of a ship sunk in Atlantic waters earlier this week, apparently by an enemy submarine.

The survivors, consisting of both passengers and crew members, were landed in Hamilton harbor yesterday by a rescue boat which picked them up after they had drifted for three nights and two days in five lifeboats.

Coolness of the ship's skipper was credited with preventing all but a small loss of life. Survivors said the vessel sank in about 25 minutes after it was struck by a torpedo.

Honor Mother With Special Services In Churches Tomorrow

Special Sermons, Musical Numbers to Be on Day's Programs; Observance Carries Thoughts of Service Men.

Mother's day, one of the brightest dates of the year, will be widely observed in Mansfield churches tomorrow although it is not a religious festival.

Special sermons honoring mothers are planned at morning worship services in many churches. Special musical numbers appropriate for the occasion have been arranged, and prayers will be lifted revering mothers.

In many Mansfield family groups there will be one or more missing at Sunday services at this first Mother's day since entry of the United States into the war. A few mothers will be fortunate enough to have their uniformed sons with them, but furloughs these days are not numerous.

For hundreds of mothers in Mansfield the occasion has been made brighter by a message during the last few days from sons in army or navy training camps and bases in this country or other service posts in many parts of the world.

The traditional flowers will be worn—white for the mothers who are gone and colored for those living. Mothers themselves will wear corsages that convey from sons and daughters their feelings on this special day.

Because of the greater solemnity of these war days, many Mansfielders have made more elaborate preparations than usual to be with their own mothers and many from the city will be out of town as they go home for the day.

Miss Ruess To Speak At St. Paul's Church

Mother's Day will be observed at all services at St. Paul Lutheran church Sunday. At the beginning of Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. Miss Bertha Reuss, a member and teacher at the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed Sunday school, will be the guest speaker. Rev. and Mrs. Herman L. Gilbert will sing a duet. Other specials will be offered by the committee, comprised of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Seybold and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Blackstone.

During the worship service at 10:30 a. m. the importance and place of the christian family will be emphasized by Rev. Gilbert as he speaks on the "The Mother of Us All." The choir will present special anthems.

Miss Virginia Lee Moore will lead the topic, "The Mother We Love," before the Luther league at 6:30 p. m.

Three activities will feature the week's program. Members of the first aid class will meet Monday from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. the annual mother-daughter banquet will be served. For all women and young women of the church, special committees from the Guild will make all arrangements. Mrs. Stanley Blackstone's group will provide the supper plans, while decorations will be arranged by Miss Carrie Emmons' committee. Committee of Mrs. K. A. Donelson and Mrs. H. L. Gilbert will make program plans. Members of the Mary Markley society will gather Thursday evening with Miss Helen Boyer, 512 Newman street. Mrs. Charles Huck will speak on the topic, "World Christian Fellowship."

Choir will rehearse Friday at 7 p. m. and catechismal instruction classes will be conducted Saturday at 9 and 10 a. m.

Special Sermon, Musical Numbers

"Life's Oldest Alma Mater" will be the Mothers' Day sermon subject of Rev. David N. Roller at 10:45 a. m. worship services tomorrow at the First Presbyterian church.

Choral music for the service will include Christensen's anthem "Beautiful Saviour" sung by both the senior and junior choirs; and Kreisler's "The Old Refrain" by the junior choirs. Miss Mabel Zehner, church organist, will play "Prayer and Cradle Song" by Guilmant; "Songs My Mother Taught Me" by Dvorak; "The Rosary" by Nevin; and "A Song of Gratitude" by Cole.

During the week the Rachel France Guild will meet at the home of Mrs. R. E. McCombs, 608 Arlington avenue, at 7:30 p. m., Monday; and Captain Stephenson's class will sponsor a pie social in the church parlors at 8 p. m., Friday, proceeds of which will be given to the United China Relief society.

Two Services Will Honor Mothers

Mother's Day will be observed tomorrow at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church with two special morning services.

During the Sunday school service at 9:15 a. m. gifts will be presented to the oldest and youngest mothers present. Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, will be guest speaker. Program arrangements for this service were made by a committee headed by John C. Klinger, assisted by Mrs. Frank May, Conrad O. Diehm, Marjorie Schmidt and Carol Ann Spencer.

At the regular 10:30 a. m. worship service Rev. Paul H. Salesteewill use "Dear Mother" as his sermon topic. Appropriate Mother's Day anthems will be sung by the St. John's choir including "Songs My Mother Taught Me." Baptismal services will also be held.

During the week the Brotherhood will hold its annual fish fry at 6:30 p. m., Monday, with arrangements in charge of Phil Schmutzler and Rev. Saleste. Program Chairman John C. Klinger will present the Junior choir in a half hour of anthems, instrumental and vocal numbers.

Additional activities for next week include the Senior Young People's league meeting at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, in charge of Robert Hamilton; Ladies Aid Ascension Day services at the pastor's new home, 611 Brae Burn, in charge of Miss Bertha Ruess, Thursday, and Senior choir rehearsal, 7:30 p. m., Friday, conducted by John C. Klinger.

'Building Christian Homes,' Sermon Topic

"Building Christian Homes" will be the subject of Rev. Albert L. Linder's sermon at Mothers' day worship services at the Park Avenue Baptist church, tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

Appropriate Mothers' day music for the service will include the senior choir anthem, "The Silent Sea" by Neidlinger with Mrs. Sherman Skaggs as soloist; and a selection by the Junior choir "Friend of the Home" by Langram with a quintet composed of Elinor Matthes, Gloria Morton, Margaret Cole, Judy Rodey and Muriel Morton.

Lawrence S. Frank, church organist, will play three numbers, "Elevation" by Battman; Chopin's "Prelude in E Minor," and "From Foreign Parts" by Moskowski.

Meetings scheduled for the week include Baptist Youth fellowship and Young Adult fellowship, 6:30 p. m., Sunday; teachers and officers meeting, 7:30 p. m., Monday; Samaritan class at home of Mrs. Esther Spayde, 595 Park avenue west, 2 p. m., Tuesday; Women's union luncheon, 10 a. m., Junior choir, 4 p. m., and finance committee, 7:30 p. m., Wednesday; evening service, Commander Booth of the Volunteers of America, guest speaker, 7:30 p. m., Thursday, followed by senior choir rehearsal; and Girl Scouts, 4 p. m., Friday.

First Lutheran Services Listed

The services at the First Lutheran church will give special emphasis to all mothers on Mother's day. Rev. Grover Swoyer, pastor, will speak on the subject of "Eve' the Mother of Men" at the morning worship at 9:45 a. m.

The choir will sing "Open Our Eyes" by Macfarlane, and Miss Miriam Culler will sing "For My Mother" by Malotte for the offertory solo.

The Sunday school service will recognize the mothers of the congregation by a special program at its closing service. Miss Eleanor Carver's class will have charge of this program.

"Gambling and One's Soul" will be the sermon topic of Rev. Swoyer for the vesper service at 8 p. m. The Junior choir will sing "Back of the Clouds" by Freeman. Miss Joan Baer will sing "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte for the offertory solo.

Meetings during the week include: Luther league at 7 p. m., Sunday; mothers and daughters banquet 6:30 Tuesday; Sunday school board 7:30 Wednesday; Seventh District 2 Wednesday.

World Action Day To Be Observed

Lutheran World Action Day will be observed tomorrow morning at St. Mark's Lutheran church when Rev. C. A. Ports will preach on the subject, "For God and Country." The choir anthem is entitled "God Bless Our Mothers" by Lane.

The children's church program will be held in the church basement at 10:30 a. m. for all children between the ages of six and 11 inclusive.

The Golden Rule Bible class and the Pastor's Aid society will be guests of the Guild at their annual birthday party to be held at 8 p. m., Monday. Mrs. W. L. Parkinson will speak on her recent trip to Panama.

Additional activities scheduled for the week include choir rehearsal, 7:30 p. m., Wednesday; church council, 7:45 p. m., Thursday; and catechetical instruction, 10:30 a. m., Saturday.

Sunday Schools To Stage Rally

Sunday schools of Bloomingrove and Cass townships will hold a rally at 2:15 p. m. Sunday, at the Shiloh Lutheran church. The conference will be built on the theme "The Place of the Church in the Community."

Speakers of the afternoon are Rev. Nevin Stover, pastor of the Shiloh Lutheran church; Rev. Carl Grimm, chairman of the Shelby Council of Religious Education and pastor of the Ganges Evangelical and Reformed church; and Rev. Turner Holt, pastor of the Shenandoah Church of Christ. Rev. H. L. Bethel of the Rome Presbyterian church will conduct the collection of the offering and Rev. H. T. Wintermute, pastor of the Shiloh Methodist Episcopal church will give the benediction.

Sunday schools sponsoring the rally include White Hall church of God, Rome Presbyterian, Ganges Evangelical and Reformed Shenandoah Church of Christ, Shiloh Lutheran and Shiloh Methodist Episcopal.

Members of six Franklin and Plymouth township Sunday schools and three granges have been invited to attend the conference. The guest church schools are Franklin township, Amoy Lutheran, Pleasant Valley Baptist and Church of the Brethren; and Plymouth township, Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian and Plymouth Lutheran. Granges invited to the rally are those of Shiloh, Shenandoah and Ganges.

Arrangements for the sessions were made by the following officers of the Shiloh Lutheran Sunday school: Fred Dawson, president; Earl Huston, vice president; and Mrs. S W. Zackman, secretary-treasurer.

Christian Family Sunday Program

Members of Grace Episcopal church will observe the annual festival of Christian family Sunday at 10:45. Families of the parish will attend in a body.

Rev. Glenn F. Lewis, rector, will preach on the topic "I Am Not Ashamed of the Gospel." Louise Krause Peterson, oragnist, will play "Largo" from "New World Symphony" by Dvorak and "Postlude" by Kothe. Grace church Men and Boys' choir will sing "Lord, For Thy Tender Mercy's Sake" by Richard Farrant as the offertory anthem.

Other services Sunday include holy communion for the church school staff at 8 a. m. in the chapel, church school worship and instruction at 9:15, and Alfred Chabourel club for Young People at 6 p. m.

Present Floral Pieces to Mothers

Motherhood will be honored Sunday in the Church of The Brethren in Lincoln Heights at the 10:30 a. m. service.

The young people of the church will present floral pieces to each mother attending the service. The Junior choir will sing the anthem, "Oh Mother's Love." The offertory number will be a soprano solo by Mrs. Don Blackledge. The pastors sermon is entitled, "The Name of Women."

Young people of the church will meet at 6:30 p. m. for a panel discussion on the subject of "Christian Patriotism." The panel includes Pauline Miller, William Cox, LaNola Meyers, and the pastor, Rev. R. L. Showalter.

Women of the church will meet all day Wednesday with Mrs. Harry Roberts, 136 Wood street. A covered dish dinner will be served at the noon hour. The business session will be held at 2 p. m. with Mrs. Charles Kline, president, presiding.

St. Peter's Arranges Mother's Day Events

Pupils at St. Peter's high school will honor their mothers at a special program Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Recognition will be paid to the senior members of the Choral club which have sung at both Sunday morning and afternoon services in St. Peter's church four years with scarcely an absence.

Mothers of the pupils will be feted at a tea in the church hall following the program composed of two plays and several musical selections.

Raymond Nixon, senior oratorical contest winner, will announce the program. A patriotic skit, "The Last Boat," will be given by Byron Young, Robert Kass, Elizabeth Yanoschek, Francis McMahon and Charles Kenney.

Junior and senior classmen will stage "Dictator Dad" with a cast including John Daley, John Besch, Richard Lehman, Robert Schnug, Mary Kmetz, Beatrice Walter, Evelyn Swetlick, Robert Peters and Mary Pagni.

Selections appropriate for Mother's Day will be sung by the student body accompanied by the orchestra.

New Minister

Rev. Paul Hunter, former pastor of the Foursquare Gospel church in Roanoke, Va., will assume his new duties as pastor of the Mansfield Foursquare Gospel church tomorrow at 11 a. m., when he preaches on the sermon topic "Fret Not Thyself Because of Evil Doers." He replaces Rev. Iva L. Wallick who took over his former pastorate at Roanoke last week. Rev. Hunter will conduct two evening services next week at 7:45 p. m., Tuesday and Thursday.

U. C. T. Hold Annual Memorial Services

The United Commercial Travelers of America and Ladies auxiliary will hold their annual memorial service at St. Matthew's Lutheran church tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., when Rev. Charles F. Sheriff will preach on the subject "United, Charity and Temperance."

Appropriate Mother's Day music will include the choir anthem "To Serve My Mother Is God" by Wilson and the offertory solo "My Mother's Favorite Hymn" sung by Mrs. Charles F. Sheriff.

Mothers of the church will be honored on two occasions this week. The Luther league will hold a Mother's day tea at 4 p. m., Sunday, at the parish house; and the annual Mother's day banquet will be held Monday evening in the church parlors.

Scheduled during the week are the Alpha Class meeting at the home of Mrs. Carl C. Vermilya, 197 Penn avenue; and a rummage sale, sponsored by the Ladies Guild, Tuesday and Wednesday, at 17 East Fifth street.

'Family Lives Its Religion,' Topic

Rev. Peter Young, pastor of the First Congregational church will use "The Family Lives Its Religion" as his sermon topic for Mother's Day services at 10:45 a. m. tomorrow, at John Simpson Junior High school auditorium.

Special music for the service will be sung by the choir under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr and Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me" will be sung by a trio composed of Mrs. Martha Bergstrom, and the Misses Billie McQuillen and Geraldine Harley.

The Pilgrim Fellowship will meet at the Parish house, at 7 p. m. Sunday, with Harry Mustin as leader.

'Motherhood—Sacred Trust', Pastor's Topic

Special Mother's day services will be conducted tomorrow at the First Methodist church when Rev. Edward G. Corwin will speak on "Motherhood—a Sacred Trust" at 10:30 a. m.

The choir anthem is entitled "Lift Up Your Heads" by Hopkins and a quartet composed of Mrs. C. C. Wadsworth, Mrs. Charles Duckwald, James T. Weber and Clarence Lisle will sing "Mother's Prayers Have Followed Me" by Ackley.

Church activities for the week include Epworth league, 6:30 p. m., Wesley fellowship, 7:30 p. m., Sunday; Sunday school superintendents rally, 8 p. m., Tuesday; and Mansfield District conference at Methodist church in Edison, O., in charge of District Superintendent Rev. Howard Peterson.

Guest Speaker To Be at Church

Using "Whom Seekest Thou?" as his sermon topic, Jack Curry will be guest speaker at worship services of Christian and Missionary Alliance Branch 2, of 278 North Main street, at 3 p. m., tomorrow.

Special music has been arranged for the service. Meetings during the week include the Missionary Prayer band, 7:30 p. m., Tuesday; and prayer service and young people's meeting, 7:30 p. m., Friday.

Speaks Tomorrow

Dr. Reuben H. Mueller of Cleveland, general secretary of Christian Education of the Evangelical church, will address the last of five rallies sponsored for Sunday school workers by the Sunday School Superintendents association of Mansfield at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the First Methodist church. Using "To Serve the Present Age" as his topic, Dr. Mueller will speak on the United Christian Education Advance, a four-year program being sponsored by the International Council of Religious Education. Dr. Mueller was one of the speakers addressing 135 conventions which the council sponsored throughout the entire country during the latter part of April.

OPA Officials Fear Eastern Service Stations Will Be Sold Out.

tions for a final unrationed tankful of gasoline, in the opinion of OPA officials, and they say that the abnormally heavy demands doubtlessly will drain many stations dry. Deliveries to stations already have been cut one-third and will be cut to 50 per cent of normal next Friday.

OPA officials said it was very likely that many of the 3,000,000 non-essential passenger cars would soon be off the highways. Many undoubtedly will exercise the privilege of taking all of their 45-day supply—about 14 gallons—at once and use it up at the start of the rationing period.

Officials cautioned that a wiser course for the motorist would be to spread their allotment evenly over the period from May 15 to July 1—when a more comprehensive plan will go into effect — and conserve their gasoline for possible emergency needs.

Touring and vacation trips—at least by automobile—appear to be "out" as far as the eastern area is concerned. OPA pointed out that the vacationists' ration of 14 gallons wouldn't make possible much of a trip.

Telephone officials expected a rush of long distance calls tomorrow as persons too far from home to go back for the day visit their mothers by telephone wire. Many will go home for the day, and transportation ssytems, already crowded these days, will be even more jammed than usual.

Just as the traditional Yule songs dominate the air during the Christmas season, the sentimental ballads honoring Mother will be presented repeatedly on the radio tomorrow.

At breakfast time, school children will present proudly to their mothers the little hand-made cards and remembrances on which they've been working in school. And the boys and girls who have grown up will do their best to say the tender things they feel on this day honoring their mothers.

Hitler admits that the Russian army is still an obstacle. In other words, it will have to be re-annihilated.

Day for Mother

ON THE second Sunday in May good children honor Mother. They give her flowers and gifts, they get the Sunday dinner, they write to her from afar. They let her know they appreciate her, which is as it should be. Good mothers not only love their children, but they do for them, sacrifice for them and carry them in their hearts forever. It is good for children to show their own love and doing once in a while.

This year, however, the day means more. It calls upon Mother to show the stuff good mothers are made of. Is Mother feeding her children spinach and schedules only, or is she feeding them also love of justice, of freedom under law, love of country which is founded upon a strong sense of human brotherhood? Is she sending her young men off with cheer, with strength, with courage, to do their duty as men should do?

Is she merely a selfish woman accepting sentimental gifts with sentimental sweetness? Or is she a strong and splendid woman, kind with a true, strong kindness, gentle with the gentleness of understanding and sacrifice, humorous with that humor which comes from seeing life steadily and seeing it whole, firm to do the right though it hurts both herself and child, farseeing with the foresight that looks to the making of a new world?

Then indeed she is a true American, worthy to be mother of heroes. That's the kind of woman the American mother tries to be. That's the kind she mostly is. She's not merely somebody around the house. She's a real person. She's Mother!

Our Two Armies

WE HAVE two armies in this country, one military and the other industrial.

The military army is under orders. It has its job assigned to it by the federal government, under presidential authority. It has to go wherever it is told to go and do whatever work it is told to do. It must run all the risks of war, from now on, farther than anyone can see. For this, the military troops have been getting food, clothing and what might be called shelter, and less than a dollar a day. Their working time runs anywhere up to 24 hours a day.

The industrial army is free to choose jobs and go where it pleases and, broadly speaking, controls its own hours. It gets several times as much pay as the military army and in general runs no abnormal risks of life or limb. Instead of being controlled by the government in a time of war and public peril, it exerts considerable control over the government. The general purpose of the two armies is the same—to win the war.

Britain, which has been in this war longer than we have, and is nearer to the main peril, has been tightening up its industrial life and war work until its civilian life is now almost as strictly controlled, in jobs and in pay, as its military life. The compulsion of events is toward such strict regimentation almost everywhere now. How long will American civilians continue to enjoy their free choice and high pay?

Rebuilding the World

THE TROUBLE with the United Nations so far is that there are three of four places for every fighting man and weapon to fill. The world is on fire and the conflagration has a big start. Even yet, the destroyers are busy lighting additional fires.

Naturally Uncle Sam, as fire chief for the world, has his hands full and will continue so for some time to come. In the very process of fire-fighting on such a cosmic scale, often new fires have to be started, comparable to those which our plainsmen used to light as back-fires against the prairie conflagrations.

It will be a sad-looking world when the fight is over, with so many cities destroyed, so many bridges and roads wrecked, so much territory devastated, so much wealth gone. The hopeful thing about it is that if warfare really burns itself out, without leaving the nations exhausted, a new world may be built in a generation. So great is the available wealth and energy of the civilized nations, if they only have a chance to make full use of the new materials and techniques. And such an opportunity is one of the things Americans are fighting for.

Passive Resistance

IT IS HARD for Americans to understand the attitude of the All-India Congress party. Its leaders are telling the masses of India not to fight if Japan invades their country. Pacifist Gandhi wins. Nehru, who would fight, loses. If Gandhi's group has its way, there will not even be a "scorched earth policy." Invaders will be resisted only by "non-cooperation," which to the western world is a self-contradiction.

It seems almost like an invitation to the Japanese to march in and take over the country and its vast resources. The Japs, who have no scruples, probably regard it in that light. And their invasion might start at any time. Two things, however, may make them hesitate. The British, who have military forces there, would resist a Japanese invasion. So would the Moslem minority, which has no scruples against self-defense.

Men of Corregidor

SAY A PRAYER for the Men of Corregidor, living and dead. Rough and tough they must have seemed in the rags and dirt of their fox-holes, but they were "white, clear white, inside." They gave their best, their last ounce of effort, their last twinge of pain, for their people and the better world they hoped for. We in their places might possibly have risen to their heights, but we cannot tell. We can only feel that they were, and are, better men than we are.

They have fought the good fight, they have finished their course, they have kept the faith. There need be no doubt as to what is in store for them hereafter. Their Rock is now the Rock of Ages.

Summer Shift for U. S. Schools

—By JACK STINNETT

(Second of Two Articles)

WASHINGTON—Although each city or county school board will have to solve its own problem in meeting the all-out wartime summer school program recommended by the U. S. Office of Education, it's a safe bet that never before will the nation's schools have been such a center of community war activity during vacation as this year.

Even those communities where the school systems are on a dead center financially or can't get Federal aid for a summer program of wartime education, the schools can, according to U. S. Education Commissioner John W. Studebaker's wartime commission, do more than a bit in an extra-curricular way.

In other words, no school should be closed this summer unless some much better meeting house is available to the neighborhood.

The schools, says the commission, should offer their plants AND personnel to the war services for:

(1) Information offices for the OCD, Selective Service, commodity rationing (the sugar rationing program is an example of how important the schools can be along this line), and other government agencies having to do with the war and defense.

(2) The salvage and conservation program.

(3) The sale of war savings stamps and bonds.

(4) Nursery schools, kindergartens and playgrounds for the children of mothers in war industry.

(5) Entertainment of service men and war workers.

(6) Housing of service men, industrial and agricultural workers.

(7) Red Cross, OCD and other training centers.

(8) Recreation and health training headquarters.

(9) Transportation by school buses of war workers where regulations permit.

(10) Victory garden organizations.

(11) Canning and preserving in school kitchens.

(12) War information and recreational reading in school libraries.

(13) Vocational guidance for young persons seeking war industry jobs or training that will lead to such jobs.

(14) Organization and rehearsal of talent for entertaining service men, war workers and the general public.

(15) Promotion of medical examination and health corrective programs for boys and girls of high school age.

(16) Planning conversion of schools in exposed areas into first aid and hospital centers.

* * *

That's a whale of a program, but it's worth giving thought to. Every so many square blocks there is a school—or in rural areas, every so many miles. Those schools are public buildings and as such can now become the center of every community war effort.

That's what the Office of Education wartime commission is out to make them. The commission will take an exceptional financial burden as an excuse—but nothing else.

TODAY IN HISTORY

John Brown, fanatical American abolitionist, leader of the famous attack on Harper's Ferry, was born on May 9, 1800, at Torrington, Conn. Brown was twice married and was the father of 20 children, eight of whom died in early childhood. His sons aided him in all his undertakings, two of them being killed at Harper's Ferry. On Oct. 31, 1859, Brown was convicted of treason. Soon after, he was hanged at Charlestown.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

Listen World!

You're Enlisted!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

You may not believe it, but it isn't the boys in the "fox-holes of Bataan" or the training camps of America who are having the toughest times these days. Nor is it the girls who are plugging away at the first aid program or the big shots at Washington with the heavy headaches.

There are millions of other citizens for whom these days drag with leaden feet—the forgotten workers of America.

The women who, chances are, were once alert, efficient professional women, racing with the current, feeling and responding to the sting and throb of life, and who now follow a routine of babies, brooms, didies and dirty dishes that daily grows more deadly to minds which were once so open and spirits which were once so eager.

I do not forget these women. For years I was one of them and knew their discouragement, hopelessness and rebellion, their feeling that they were shut out. And for their sake I am printing this letter today. Yes, it's real. Only the name has been omitted to conceal a proud woman's identity. But thousands of other women will hear in it an answer to their own secret complaints.

Dear Elsie Robinson:

"I wonder if mine is a unique problem or if many women are facing the same situation in these war years. I'm 38 years of age, the mother of a 5½-year-old daughter. Before I was married I was a bookkeeper and kept very happy doing a little social work and singing. Now, since I am married I can't seem to lead a contented life.

"I have a fine husband who tries his best to make me happy but, to be honest, I know that I am failing in my job. I don't do my housework as I should, my home is neither orderly nor beautiful. I guess I could improve in the care of my little girl, too. But I can't seem to find any joy in life.

"It seems strange because once people looked to me for strength and moral support and I found interest everywhere. Once I was truly the 'life of the party' and now I seem limp and disgusted all the time.

"I have three brothers enlisted in the navy and, though I am devoted to them, even that doesn't thrill me. I seem to be drifting further and further from actual life and there must be many like me. Thousands of us read you, Elsie, just because you radiate such confidence and courage. You may not understand us, but can't you write something that will give us just a little of your spirit?

Do I know how you feel? How well I know! Not because I wanted a career but because I needed to feel the full rush of life and be lifted by it. And there is no lift in a dirty kitchen and a crying baby.

Yet even as I write that I know I am wrong. For a shining kitchen and a healthy baby are far more essential to this nation than a 16-inch gun or flights of planes.

FOR WHETHER YOU KNOW IT OR NOT, MY DEAR, YOU ARE ENLISTED TOO. FOR YOU, TOO, THERE ARE THE UNAVOIDABLE HAZARDS OF WAR . . . THE DEADLY MONOTONY OF DRILL . . . THE LONELINESS . . . THE WONDER WHAT IT IS ALL ABOUT AND WHETHER IT IS ALL WORTH WHILE . . . THE SOUL-SICKENING REBELLION AGAINST YOUR ISOLATION.

But remember this. You are not alone in these pangs. You share them with every soldier and sailor who fights today, every homesick rookie. You share them with the glorious dead who died that we might have democracy. Your cluttered kitchen is not merely a dirty room. It is a parade ground—a parade ground fo which is summoned all your pride and patriotism.

YOU ARE NOT FIGHTING ALONE FOR YOUR MAN AND LITTLE GIRL. YOU ARE FIGHTING FOR DEMOCRACY. YOU ARE FIGHTING THAT OTHER MEN AND WOMEN SHALL FOREVER KNOW FREE HOMES AND FREE SOULS.

How do I realize these things? Because I too grow limp with discouragement and slack under routine, and desperate with bewilderment. You may think a columnist leads a dramatic life, but actually a columnist is as isolated as any other worker at his job and knows as many hours of numbing disgust.

LIFT UP YOUR HEAD AND THANK GOD THAT YOU ARE ENLISTED TOO IN THE GREATEST CAMPAIGN THAT MEN EVER FOUGHT AND FOR THE NOBLEST CAUSE!

Summary of Week's Happenings

British Coup at Madagascar Big News of Week for United Powers

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

TWO toothy Japanese admirals happened to be "just passing through" Vichy en route to Berlin. So what did they do? They stopped for a four-day "courtesy call."

Vichy thought so well of these visitors that it proclaimed a "Japanese day," gave the admirals guard of honor, staged flashy parades and flowery banquets.

In between, the Japanese held long conferences with sly, flabby-handed Pierre Laval, Vichy's pro-Axis chief of government.

What did they confer about? Outsiders were sure they were talking about France's Madagascar. Japan needed the use of Madagascar in order to smash allied supply routes in the Indian ocean area.

Madagascar is the world's fourth largest island. (Larger ones are Greenland, New Guinea and Borneo.) Its lush acres grow rice, tobacco, coffee and hardwoods.

But its importance in Japanese eyes was that it had at Diego Suarez on its northern tip one of the best harbors on the Indian ocean and the fact that it lay 250 miles off Africa's east coast.

Vichy Tightens Grip.

Even while Laval was conferring with the admirals Vichy was strengthening its hold on the island. Free French were being rounded up, bitterly anti-British programs were broadcast to the populace, and two French cruisers and a submarine tender arrived. There were unconfirmed reports that a Japanese military mission was in Madagascar.

On Tuesday the British began occupying the island. The United States backed up Britain in the move and warned Vichy that "any warlike act permitted by the French government" would be regarded as an "attack upon the United Nations as a whole."

Despite this warning, Laval, Marshal Petain and Admiral Darlan all ordered the French forces on Madagascar to resist with all their might. Resist they did but the British Commandos were soon in control of the approaches to Diego Suarez.

Laval was hopping mad, the Japanese badly put out. French officials denied that the Japanese had made any requests re Madagascar

Washington watched to see whether Vichy's fighting at Madagascar was full-fledged enough to be construed as hostile to the United Nations.

Should Free French Be Recognized?

Britain's move in beating the Axis to the draw was a tonic to allied peoples. As Commandos slashed their way across the approaches to Diego Suarez it was noted that—unlike the Syrian campaign—the British were not using kid glove tactics on their erstwhile allies. At least two French warships were sunk. Also it was noted that the powerful task force hurled against Madagascar was "all British." Previously—as at Dakar and Syria—the British were careful to operate only in concert with the Free French.

This raised anew in the minds of observers questions on the status of the Free French movement. It was learned in Washington that General DeGaulle's personal representative in America was sounding out the state department on the possibility of U. S. recognition of the Free French as a sovereign government.

But an American official indicated that the U. S. had no intention of going beyond its present policy of helping the Free French with men and money. He said the U. S. did not intend to put itself in the position of underwriting any particular group as the future government of France. Further strengthening this position, he said, was the fact that many Frenchmen who rallied to DeGaulle as a military leader were strongly opposed to regarding him as the future political leader of France.

In Short

Crashed: A sleeper transport plane, into a storm-lashed ridge within sight of Salt Lake City's airport. All 14 passengers and a crew of three were killed.

Elected: Colombia's liberal former president Alfonso Lopez, as the new president. He succeeds Dr. Eduardo Santos, also a liberal. His defeated apponent was the conservative Carlos Arango Velez.

Suspended: The second-class mailing privileges of Social Justice, a publication which the attorney general labeled as "clearly seditious." The publication reflected the views of Father Charles E. Coughlin. Publication was suspended.

Openly Charged: By CIO President Murray, that his one-time friend John L. Lewis was conducting a "back-biting" campaign against him and that Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers and former president of the CIO, had failed to give him the support in the CIO which Lewis once pledged.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Once upon a time there was a certain occasionally employed screen writer who liked to visit a certain east side theatrical cafe where actors, poets and various adventurers like to discuss the drama, pearl diving, and the New Deal.

You entered this cafe through a fabulous revolving door and inside the atmosphere was heavy with the exhaled smoke of cigarets and pipes and the tossed-about fumes of onions, cheese, and liver.

This writer, whose name was Hy Kraft, became a sort of unofficial fixture around the place. He sopped up the peculiar idiom extant, drained innumerable glasses of tea, and eventually, with a shake of his head, drifted out to Hollywood with the idea of having his agent saddle him with a few choice writing contracts.

* * *

NOTHING like this happened. In Hy's own words, his agent was "too busy" to see him at the moment, which means that the outlook is pretty bleak if your own agent won't talk to you on the telephone.

So Hy had lunch with his pal, Nunnally Johnson, who writes, produces, directs films and gives advice on the side. They talked a long time, and without half knowing it Hy began to repeat little things he had heard around the fabulous east side theatrical cafe in New York . . . He gave Nunnally the idiom, he described the smells, he told of the unbelievable bus-boy at this restaurant who was gaga about theatrical people but who owned apartment houses on the side and had plenty of coin in his own right.

"What did you say the name of this place was?" Nunnally wanted to know.

"Cafe Royal," Hy Kraft told him.

"I've got an idea," Nunnally said. "You're going to write a play."

Hy wasn't at all pleased at this suggestion. He hadn't wanted to write a play. He wanted a Hollywood job. With writers, however, it isn't what you want that makes you fat, it's what you get.

* * *

ALL of this is to give you the background of one of the most curious dramas Broadway has seen in recent seasons. Its name is "Cafe Crown." Even on the stage it may be reached only through an exact duplicate of that famous revolving door. It was this play that inspired Dorothy Thompson to visit Cafe Royal—a visit which ended in the headlines of the newspapers after a strange feminine creature came in, yelled "Heil Hitler," and attacked Miss Thompson, biting her hand.

Cafe Crown remains one of the theater's most inviting adventures, and Cafe Royal remains what it always was, a curious smoke-screened, onion-flavored gathering point on the east side for actors and poets and people with a passion for greasepaint.

Daily Bible Thought

Receive, I pray thee, the law from his mouth, and lay up his words in thine heart.—Job 22:22.

Sad News

Another reason the allies were heartened by the landing on Madagascar was that elsewhere in the Indian-Pacific Ocean area United Nation fortunes were scraping bottom. Two serious blows were being absorbed:

Burma: 'Very Mucky Indeed.'

The British-Chinese forces were plainly in a perilous position in Burma. Mandalay fell, along with Lashio, terminal of the Burma road. The invaders sought to split the Chinese and British forces by sending one column plunging northwest up the Chindwin River valley toward the wild mountains protecting India, and sending another up the Burma Road into mountainous southwestern China. In London a spokesman described the allied position as "very mucky indeed."

China was now almost cut off from help from the outside world.

Luzon: Old Glory Comes Down.

On Tuesday President Roosevelt dispatched a message to General Wainright on Corregidor in Luzon which concluded: "You and your devoted followers have become the living symbols of our war aims and the guarantee of victory."

A few hours later he received the anguishing but hardly unanticipated news that the Japanese had landed at night on Corregidor. Within another few hours, it was all over. The island fortress guarding the entrance to Manila Bay, finest harbor in the Western Pacific, had fallen after 28 days of siege.

Japanese big guns and big bombers helped pave the way. But it was hunger, excruciating fatigue, and empty shell boxes that made the collapse of the defenders inevitable.

Abroad

RAF Brings Winces.

"The present bombing duel is highly unpopular with the German people."

A Berlin dispatch to the Swiss Journal de Geneve carried that quote. Tagged to Stockholm reports that round-the-clock raids by British fliers had taken some 7,000 lives in Rostock alone, it drew a grim response from across the channel.

So Jerry would like to "call off the bombing of English towns if the RAF will change its methods of bombing German cities" would he?

Not much would he get the chance. Said one British leader: "We are going after those blighters wherever they are and at every chance we get, and that is final."

At Home

King Canute told the waves to stop and everybody knows what happened. Recently Price Administrator Henderson ordered all prices to stop rising, and everybody wondered what would happen.

Would the prices soon crash through Henderson's ceilings? Some economists feared they would unless all Americans joined grimly in the task of holding them down, and unless further drastic moves were made to eliminate excess spending money floating about the country. The realistic Mr. Henderson was himself well aware of the perils that threatened to shatter his ceilings.

But while some were skeptical, one OPM official, Kenneth Backman, pointed out that the experience of Canada indicates that the price ceiling is workable and that "there is no reason to believe it will cause too drastic hardships."

There'll Be Less Joy-Riding.

At least 60,000 racing fans jammed into Louisville to see the Kentucky Derby. (Shut Out won.) Other thousands gathered at other tracks. In Washington Senator Herring (D., Iowa) complained about the use of railroad cars to "haul loafers to race tracks at a time when soldier boys are jammed into obsolete and unsafe railway equipment."

Because of the gasoline and rubber shortage there has already been a 50% increase in passenger travel on railroads and buses since Pearl Harbor. Further, vacation season is approaching.

If troops, war freight and defense workers are to be moved, Joseph Eastman, defense transportation director, opined, then there must be a drastic cut in non-essential travel. He disclosed that a reduction or elimination of "luxury equipment" on railroads such as club, lounge, parlor and sleeping cars was "imminent." In addition, he said, ODT was planning restrictions on passenger travel, fewer express and more local-stop trains, and diversion of much branch-line equipment to more important runs.

Hints on Etiquette

If a young soldier, sailor or coast guardsman smiles at you on the street, don't glare. Smile in a friendly way just to show your goodwill. You probably will never see him again, so why not let him know you appreciate what he is doing? Don't be bold, of course, but this is not the time to be too much of a prude.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. The heating of milk to a temperature of 143 degrees F., and holding it at that temperature for not less than 30 minutes, destroying dangerous organisms and reducing the number of other bacteria.
2. Objects which are covered with glaring hit-or-miss patterns attract attention to the patterns instead of the entire object.

'TULIP TEA' GIVEN AT NEWCOMB HOME

Young English Woman Guest Speaker for Mansfield Garden Club Affair Friday; Floral Arrangements Shown.

A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR for Mansfield Garden club members and their guests, the presidents of other local garden clubs, was the "Tulip Tea" given Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. J. Newcomb, 627 Hawthorn Lane. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Carl Routzahn.

Unusual and beautiful floral arrangements throughout the home were created by Mrs. Alan Tappan. There were combinations of lilies of the valley and narcissi, lilacs and tulips in all-white bouquets and in shades of lavender, and pansies and honeysuckle. Centerpiece for the tea table consisted of pink-edged white tulips and bleeding hearts.

Preceding the program, the members and guests visited the lovely Newcomb garden. Mrs. Ephraim Brown, club president, introduced the guest speaker, Miss Violet Hodge of Wayside Gardens, Painesville, whose subject was "Spring Bulbs." In a charming, informal manner, Miss Hodge told of her experiences as a "lady gardener" in her native England prior to coming to the United States in June, 1940. Following her graduation from a horticulture school in Reading, England, she was engaged as "lady gardener" on the famous seven thousand acre Toward estate. She was in charge of four of the 17 gardens and planned color schemes for the flower beds.

Today, Miss Hodge said, this lovely estate is being used as a site for guns and soldiers. From there she went to London, which is approximately 40 miles from Reading, where she was chosen by Reading university to be technical adviser in an office for garden enthusiasts from other countries. Miss Hodge stated that while she was located at this interesting post, she talked with people from 70 different nations within one year.

In advising her Mansfield audience about the planting and care of spring bulbs, this young English woman emphasized that drainage of the garden plot is important. She advised that bulbs be placed on the soil and not pushed into it. Tulip bulbs, she said, should be planted at twice their own depth.

Miss Hodge mentioned three possible reasons for failure of bulbs to produce flowers: the bud may have been killed by frost; drainage may not have been good; or the bulb may have been damaged in transit between the florist and the home gardener.

For a formal garden, Miss Hodge recommends tulips. Informal gardens can be made attractive with daffodils and tulips along with other, smaller bulbs such as narcissi. Colored slides of the various kinds of narcissi, daffodils, iris, jonquils and tulips were shown by Miss Hodge following her talk. Those present found the pictures interesting and informative as well as attractive.

Tea was served following the program with Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Tappan presiding at the table. Meeting May 22 will be held at the home of Mrs. Glenn Vinson. Program will be in charge of the horticulture committee.

Mother's Day Program Given At Park Pavilion

Dinner was served at noon Friday to 42 members of the Mothers' Home Circle at the North Lake park pavilion. Spring flowers decorated the long table and were later sent to shut-ins. The day was spent in quilting with two comforts quilted and one tied.

Following the business session patriotic ritual was held. This was followed by scripture reading by Mrs. Mary McQuade and prayer by the president, Mrs. Irene Hines.

In keeping with the season a Mothers' day program was presented. It consisted of the following poems. "Origin of Mothers' Day" by Mrs. George Hoover; "Motherhood" by Mrs. C. C. Vermilya; "To My Mother" by Mrs. Dorothy Rantz; "My Mother In My Garden" by Mrs. Herman Kochheiser; and a talk "Three Things Must Be Kept Sacred to Win This War—The Home—The Flag—and The Place of Prayer," by Mrs. Mary Harbeson.

Welfare work was reported and the meeting was closed with the group singing of hymns. Plans for the summer were discussed. The next meeting will be held June 12 at the North Lake park pavilion.

Curl Home Scene Of Review of Reviews Meet

Mrs. Kenneth Curl, 502 Highland avenue, was hostess to members of the Review of Reviews club Friday at her home. The group completed the roll call assignment talks for the year's program. After a routine discussion of business, Mrs. Warren Fort gave a paper on "Commercial Advertising."

Three guests were in attendance. Luncheon was enjoyed at small tables after being served buffet style from a board decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. B. W. Knapp presided.

Plans were discussed for a family picnic to be held June 12 at the Middle Park at noon. Children will be entertained at that time. Mrs. Everett Tingley and Mrs. Gladys Lane are in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Edith Garrison, a guest, representing the Public Library, talked on the "Victory Drive For Books."

Celebrates Birthday Here

In the above picture are the small guests who attended the birthday party Friday given for Donnie Black at the John park pavilion. Hostess for the celebration was his grandmother, Mrs. Pauline Black, 262 Herman avenue. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Black of Van Wert. Left to right, first row, are Denny Berkej, John Matthes, Pauline Jo Black, Judy Harrison and Jimmy Kolb; second row, Tommy Berkej, Jackie Kolb, Sammie Kay Matthews, Donnie Black and Dick Berlo.

Guest Speaker Talks on Care Of Bee Hives

Members of the Buckeye Garden club are in charge of the Mansfield Garden Center this month and in keeping with their display there, heard additional information on the subject, "Bees and Money," Friday. Guest speaker was C. F Hergatt, Richland county bee inspector, who used as his topic, "Care of Bees."

Being displayed at the Center headquarters, Public Library, are active hives, honey and tested honey recipes. Eighteen members were present yesterday for this program at the home of Mrs. Tom Siegenthaler, Brae Burn road. Also on the program was a talk by Mrs. Gene Zediker on "Borders." The attractive flower arrangements were made by Mrs. Louis Wenger.

Luncheon was served at noon with Mrs. Wenger pouring. Plans were made to hold a guest party and picnic at Mohican state park, May 22.

Never attempt to paint over a coat of whitewash. Remove the whitewash with clear water applied with a brush. When the washed surface is perfectly dry, apply the paint.

Congregational Women Have Joint Meeting

One of the season's outstanding social events was the joint meeting of the Pilgrim Guild and the Women's Association of the First Congregational church which was held at the new parish house on Park avenue west Thursday afternoon. Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles Fox was re-elected president of the Women's Association for the coming year. Mrs. P. B. Dietrichson was named vice president. Executive board, comprised of officers and chairmen of standing committees, will include Mrs. Ethel Channel, activities; Mrs. E. C. Flory, ways and means; Mrs. Mark Wolcott, literature; Mrs. Fred Holibaugh, nominating committee head.

Speaker for the afternoon was Miss Rose Leiter of Pittsburgh, Pa., retired teacher of foreign born and colored mothers in Pittsburgh public schools. Her talk on "Gifts from Foreign Lands" was very interesting. As Miss Leiter displayed flags of various countries she told of her experiences in teaching the women from those lands. Musical portion of the program was presented by Mrs. Peter Young, who rendered several vocal solos.

Hostess committee for the occasion was comprised of Mrs. George Kirtley, chairman, Mrs. Irving Cutting, Mrs. Dietrichson, Mrs. Henry Sanford, Mrs. R. D. Campbell, Mrs. Earle Troll and Mrs. Frank Bennett.

During the business session reports were given by the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Fred Schuster, house committee; Mrs. R. F. Steinebrey, wayside; Mrs. T. Y. McCray, sewing; Mrs. H. H. Sanford, new equipment; and Mrs. Alice Jennings, calling committee.

Elect Officers At Willing Club

The home of Mrs. James Wolfgang, Springmill street, was the scene of the meeting of the Willing club Thursday afternoon. Nine members and six guests, Charlene Waddell, Billy Stewart, Carol Ann and Charles Robinson, Mrs. J. W. Stewart and Miss Margaret Stewart, were present.

Mrs. Wolfgang was elected president during the annual business meeting, and will be assisted by Mrs. J. E. Niebel, vice president; Mrs. John Hainer, secretary; Mrs. Arden Waddell, treasurer. During the social hour contests were the diversion with the high score won by Mrs. Fred Wagner.

The next meeting will be held May 28 at the Colonial Guest House, Wooster road, with Mrs. Ann Diras as hostess.

For extra flavor in cooked green beans, stir in at the last minute a mere suggestion of finely chopped olives and minced sweet pickles.

Alma Schulte Wed May 2 to Doyle Norris

Complimenting Mrs. Doyle Norris, recent bride, was the party given recently at the home of Mrs. William Heichel, 473 Grace street. Twenty-eight were in attendance to honor the former Alma Schulte, whose marriage was an event of May 2.

The St. John's Evangelical church was the scene of the quiet wedding attended by Miss Wanda Conrad, a cousin of the bride, and Chester Norris, uncle of the bridegroom. Mrs. Norris is the daughter of Mrs. Frieda Schulte, R. D. 2, Mansfield, and Mr. Norris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Norris of Bellville. He is employed at the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company. They are now residing at 284 South Adams street.

The evening of the party was spent socially and at a late hour refreshments were served. The couple received many gifts.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 10.

Sunday's horoscope is a very intriguing one, despite many irregularities and conflicts. There is need of caution in dealings with professional people and with large corporations, where there is danger of peculiar, confusing and subtle involvements of a sinister nature. A strong tendency to impetuous, easy and excessive outlay of funds, in gambling or long chances, or in personal indulgence would be regrettable.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of much intrigue, treachery, subtle, peculiar and sinister relations, probably owing to an easy tendency to gamble, spend or be victimized, by professional persons or those in power. Also the proclivity to excess, self-indulgence and general prodigality and over-lavishness may produce regrettable entanglements. With precaution and good sense there might be enduring benefits.

A child born on this day may have many conflicting traits of character, with lavish, prodigal and indulgent habits. Yet it has sound talents and originality.

For Monday, May 11.

Monday's astrological forecast is for a lively and progressive day, with much moving to major operations under high pressure. However, this tempo may prove menacing, since there may be danger of agitation, strife, and rash and impulsive action, with rancor and ill feeling. Secret enmity and deceit also pervade the domestic, affectional or social relations, although public or community interests push on to gratifying culminations. It is wise to deal with groups and agencies rather than hazardous personal contact. Safeguard love affairs.

Those whose birthday it is may have a lively year, with much success and satisfaction if turbulent, violent and impetuous conduct be avoided by dealing through public channels or agencies where there might be strife or contention in private contacts. Intimate affiliations are under baneful vibrations.

A child born this day should be clever and versatile but its nature may be impetuous, turbulent and difficult especially in its private relations.

WEDDING TAKES PLACE AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Mansfielders Are Attendants When Miss Regina Ruth Pore of Gambier Becomes Bride of R. K. Oswalt of Dayton.

WEDDING of Miss Regina Ruth Pore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pore of Gambier, and Raymond Keith Oswalt of the U. S. Army Signal Corps at Wright Field, Dayton, was solemnized at 11 a. m. Friday in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul Saleste in the presence of relatives and close friends of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp Oswalt of this city, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were the attendants. Mrs. Russell Blair and Kermit Oswalt are sister and brother of the bridegroom.

For her wedding, the bride was attired in a navy blue ensemble with rose accessories. She had a shoulder corsage of gardenias and white roses. Mrs. Oswalt was wearing a navy blue ensemble, rose accessories and a corsage of pink sweet peas and roses. The bride's mother appeared in a navy blue dress and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, reception was held and luncheon was served at Scotty's on the Ashland road. Table decorations consisted of a wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple, and lighted tapers.

The bride was graduated from Gambier high school and has been employed as a waitress at a Mt. Vernon hotel. Mr. Oswalt is a graduate of Perrysville high school and the School of Art at Detroit, Mich.

After a short wedding trip through the south, Mr. and Mrs. Oswalt will make their home in Dayton.

George Ganyard Speaker At Garden Club Meeting

George B. Ganyard, Richland county agricultural agent, was the guest speaker Friday for the meeting of the Johnny Appleseed Garden club at the home of Mrs. Tom Ford, Alta-West road. His topic was "Vegetable Gardens" and he led the open discussion on the subject. Flower arrangements were made by Mrs. Donald Black.

Luncheon was served to 19 members at the noon hour. Plans were made for a picnic to be held next Friday, May 15, at the Mohican state park. Mrs. Carl Gibson, is chairman.

Senior High Band Club To Have Alumni Party

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Benninghoff, 628 South Main street, were hosts to members of the Senior High School Band Parents' club last evening at their home. Twenty-five were in attendance for the special business session. It was decided to have the band uniforms cleaned and to purchase 19 pins for band members who are graduating this spring. The revised constitution was also discussed. Plans were made to hold a picnic on June 7 at South Park at which time all band alumni and their parents and band members from the Junior high schools, who will enter Senior high next fall, are invited.

Seven senior mothers, Mrs. Clarence Strohmenger, Mrs. Edwin Davis, Mrs. E. L. Myers, Mrs. Carl Lang, Mrs. H. R. Mustin, Mrs. Charles Edmonstone and Mrs. O. B. Bell, presented tablecloths to the band club. Following the business meeting games were the diversion. Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Ray Schaaf and her committee.

CLASS MEETING HELD.

Mrs. Mary Gimbel was the guest speaker last evening for the meeting of the B. W. F. class of the Central Methodists church in the church parlors. She gave an illustrated talk on the Friendly House. Sixty-three were in attendance for the covered-dish dinner, planned by Mrs. Jacob Roelof. During the brief business session plans were made to meet June 12, the place to be announced later. Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Rondell will be in charge.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

The captain of the state troopers held out a written memorandum to me, and as I took it I sent a salute to the man who had written it, so legible were the figures and letters.

The telephone number was from a midtown exchange, and my knowledge of its location told me that the address was less than half a mile from the Lansfield. The message itself was apparently innocuous.

"Tell Mrs. Fieglund when she come in after her groceries that Petey can't get home tonight. He had a blowout and can't get the tire fixed till tomorrow."

I put the paper away in my purse near the memorandum concerning the unlisted number in the Lansfield, from which had come the call to Professor Diswell's home in the man's voice which the telephone operator had described as a "la-de-dah, womanish voice." That description had told me the identity of the person responsible for the leak.

"Thank you very much," I told the captain, then saw that he was inexorably holding out a ten-dollar bill to me.

Takes Gangster's Money.

"They're not pikers those lads" he said, in a low voice. "This is what the fellow offered our man to send the message. Under orders from me he pretended to agree; took the message and the money. But, as I told you before, we can't keep the money. It's your headache, and I'm handing it over to you right now."

"I can see your viewpoint," I said, reluctantly taking the bill and putting it also into my purse. "But it won't be my headache long. I shall turn it over to my father and let him worry about it."

"A very wise decision," he said, smiling. Then we shook hands again, and he turned to the police cars headed in an opposite direction to ours, while I went with Gus to my father's armored car.

Joe was in the driver's seat, and I noted with approval that the engine was already running.

"Follow the gangsters' car which Bill is driving," I told Gus, "but when we stop to refuel at Branchman's— I've already told Bill to stop there—we'll take the lead and let them follow."

"Okay," Gus replied with his invariable formula. As I took my seat facing Professor Diswell and "Charles," whose masquerade hiding the identity of my brother-cousin Jack Bickett I had just discovered, I heard Gus passing on my instructions to Joe.

The eyes of the old professor were closed when I entered the car, but came open as I seated myself, and he asked fretfully:

"My house? Is the man there in charge?"

"Yes, indeed, very much in charge," I told him reassuringly. "And he seems to be a most competent man. I am sure you can rest easy about your home, no mattter how long you choose to remain away from it."

"I am not going to be away from it long," he said. "It's not likely that there will be any more of that gang looking for the cryptogram."

"I agree with you," I said "especially as the man impersonating you saw that you and your friend had been taken away.

"Besides," I went on, "as far as their associates know they have vanished into thin air. They bribed a state trooper to send a telephone message for them. The captain took the message and the money and turned both over to me for delivery to my father. There is also a state trooper in their car who is a stenographer, and he is taking down every word; no matter how cryptic, which they utter. I am sure you will not be troubled again, but I am also sure my father will wish to see both of you."

"Not me," the man whom Professor Diswell had called Charles said quickly. I gave him a steady appraising glance.

"Especially you, 'Shawn Rue'," I said in muted tones.

CHAPTER V

"Oh, yes; the butler has been with us ever since we were married, and my man I have had for more than ten years. There are others, but Alma never came in contact with them, except the maids. I can't get a ray of light, can you? Unless it was a burglar, a sneak thief."

"Not very plausible. There was always someone on guard?"

"Yes. Dickson was in or near that guest room all the time. And Foo Chow is always everywhere. He would know if a fly came in unannounced."

"Then you have no theory, Mr. McCleod? No suspicion?"

"How can I have? All the guests are our friends, or were brought by our friends. Strangers come that way, you see, for our friends know that their friends are welcome here."

"Were there many strangers here tonight?"

"I'm not sure. You see, owing to my father's illness I was with him a great deal of the time. I can't make it out."

* * *

"This apartment of yours is a bit complicated, isn't it? As to arrangement, I mean," Dr. Colville said.

"Indeed it is," Hugh replied. "Visitors staying here, say they need a guide to find their way around. There are many rooms and lots of halls and nooks."

"An intruder, then, could have hidden himself at will."

"Oh, I think not. Foo Chow was on the job, and then, why would an intruder, I suppose you mean a robber, kill Alma in that strange fashion? She had on valuable jewelry, but I don't think any of it was disturbed. I didn't notice—"

"I have to go now, Mr. McCleod. We will take the body away tonight, and there will be an autopsy in the morning. Then you will have the report."

Hugh McCleod merely nodded his head as Colville left him.

The examiner knew they already had taken Alma's body away, and another room was made the coat room.

* * *

Foo Chow told him that the house manager had been with the mortuary men, and all had been done quietly and well. Dickson carried the same news to Hugh, and told him gently that he had better go to bed and get a little rest. Hugh paid no attention to this advice, and he drank the coffee offered to him, with an equal lack of notice.

"Dickson," he said, at last, "Will you help me to get the beast that killed my wife?"

Dickson vowed that he would.

"I don't know how we will do it," Hugh went on. "I shall have to think it over, but I will find a way. Have you any suspicions, Dickson? You know most of the people at the party. Can you imagine any one of them as a murderer?"

"Don't think about that now, Mr. McCleod. Don't sir! If you want to, you could get a detective, a private one, I mean."

"They don't know anything. They do in the books, but not in real life. The police detectives know more. They are trained workers. That Raynor is a smart chap. You didn't notice anything queer about anybody tonight? None of the men jittery, or anything like that?"

"No, Mr. McCleod. Now, sir, if you won't go to bed, you must lie down for a while. Come to your own room anyway, and let me freshen you a bit."

"Yes, I'll do that—come on."

The rooms occupied by Hugh and Alma were across the front of the house. Each had bedrooms, dressing-room and bath, and a small living room beside, which connected the two suites.

Hugh looked in at Alma's door and saw Linda, her maid, putting away some things. "What are you doing, Linda?"

The girl gave a start.

"Oh," she said, relieved to see her master instead of a policeman. "I'm putting Mrs. McCleod's jewels in the cases. They took her, just as she was, except for these. Shall I put them in this little safe, sir, or will you take care of them?"

"Put them there for now, Linda. I'll see about it later."

* * *

Captain Raynor was methodical. He now had all the guests who were still there marshalled into a reception room.

With his stenographer at his side, he addressed certain people whom he knew or knew of, and who, his practised judgment told him, could not be implicated in this crime. He had already examined and dismissed some of the older guests, men he knew as conspicuous in New York society or in Wall Street circles, and their wives. He was a little surprised at the number of these, then he remembered that Hugh McCleod was years older than his wife, and these were his longtime friends.

Raynor reduced his audience to a few uncertain strangers and a group of younger guests who were Alma's particular friends.

These, he announced, he would interview separately, one at a time, leaving Sergeant Colby in charge.

"Who first discovered Mrs. McCleod's death?" he asked, and was immediately answered.

"I did," Doris Day said, with a distinct air of importance.

"Then come with me, please." To her disappointment, Doris found herself conducted to another room. She had anticipated a dramatic scene when she would be in the limelight, and would impress all by her pathetic story. But Raynor read her mind, and requested her to answer his inquiries briefly and concisely.

"Why did you go upstairs to the men's dressing room?" he said.

"Oh, it wasn't only the men's room," Doris smiled at him. "Some of us girls had left our wraps there, too."

"Just happened so. You see, it's a guest room, and it has a lovely powder table and all, and there was a maid there, a new one. Alma's own maid was in the ladies' dressing room."

"Why did you go up there?"

Doris opened her mascaraed eyes.

"Why, I thought it was time to go home. I was tired, and I thought I'd start and then our crowd would all go. That's the way we usually do."

"So you ran upstairs for your wrap?"

"Yes, and I went in the room and I saw Alma lying on the chaise longue. I thought that was odd, and I said, 'Get up, Alma, we're going home now.' And she didn't say anything, and I spoke to her two or three times, I was sitting at the powder table, you see, and I had my back to her, but I could see her in the mirror, and she didn't say a word! I was frightened, and I went toward her. She looked so queer, I screamed. I couldn't help it! I didn't think she was dead. I thought she had a stroke or something queer!"

"And then someone came?"

"No, nobody came, I ran downstairs. I almost tumbled down—I was so frightened—and Ogden Murray caught me as I was falling, and they laid me on a couch and brought me a drink."

"What happened next?"

"Ogden began to tease, and Nadine said she thought something was the matter and she ran upstairs. She has a lot of curiosity always. Then, Ogden ran after her, I think, and the others took care of me. I saw Doctor Lloyd go upstairs, and that's all I remember. I was ill from shock."

"Have you any idea as to who could have killed Mrs. McCleod?"

No. That is, she had lots of enemies, but they were not killers!"

"Why did she have enemies?"

"Oh, just because she was so beautiful and rich and important and—well, fascinating. She was a glamor girl. Men adored her."

"And Mr. McCleod?"

"Her husband? Oh, he couldn't help himself. He just adored her with the rest."

"Didn't he mind her—er, flirtations?"

"Oh, he didn't know of them, the serious ones. Of course, he saw her dancing with the boys, but you know he is awfully old."

"Forty-five, I am told."

"Well, that's terribly old for our crowd. But Alma was very discreet."

"You said she had enemies?"

"Mostly among the girls, just envy and jealousy."

"You mean, a woman might have killed her?"

"Well, more likely than a man! How could a man kill Alma? She was too beautiful!"

"But suppose she drove him mad?"

"That could be, but Alma could take care of herself in an emergency, I'm sure."

"Do you suspect any woman?"

"I don't believe it was any of the guests—"

"What do you mean?"

"I think Alma had other friends, that none of us knew about, and one of them came here secretly tonight, and—"

"You mean some lover, not of her own set?"

"I'd rather think that than to suspect one of our own crowd!"

"Have you the least knowledge of such a thing?"

"No, I haven't. But if you must look among our set, keep your eye on Nadine Glenn. I don't believe she did it, but she's the only one who could."

"What do you mean could?"

"Why, she has temperament and deep passions and all that. You know. Most of us are just ordinary every-day girls, but Nadine has a soul that seethes,—she told me so."

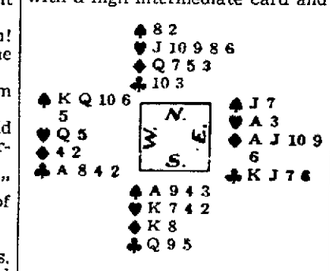
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

MAKE THE TRY AT ONCE

ONE COMBINATION of cards which is frequently misplayed, by a No Trump declarer of fair ability, is composed of a singly guarded queen in the dummy, opposite the ace and one or two little cards of the suit, when the opening leader has clearly chosen a fourth best If the opponents had done no bidding to disclose the situation, it is nearly always best to play the queen at once. The reason is simple. That is practically its only chance to win, the chance that the king had been underled. If the king is held by the partner of the leader, the queen is as good as gone, whether it is played or not. If the small card is called, the next opponent should cover it with a high intermediate card and keep his king to knock off the queen later.



(Dealer West, North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♦	Pass
♥ ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 NT

It was a shame to see East fail to make his contract on this deal in a rubber bridge game. After South led the heart 2, he reflected briefly and decided that North probably had the K. Hence he played the 5, and the 8 was put on by North. East let that win, but then took the heart J with the A. His contract was wrecked right there for, as soon as he led the spade J, the A came in, and three more hearts put him down one.

If East had come in with the heart Q on the opening lead, he would have held the trick. When he then lost to the spade A, he still would have possessed the heart A as a stopper. Two tricks in hearts, plus four in spades, one in diamonds and two in clubs would have given him his game.

Your Week-End Lesson.

What should be the very first lesson given by a sound teacher to someone who "plays at" bridge but has never studied it? Is it to use his thinking ability the best he can at all stages? Or does something still more fundamental than that come first?

Allies Score Naval Triumph; Japs Fleeing

17 Enemy Ships Knocked Out as Ships, Planes Block Invasion Attempt; U. S. Loss Reported Light.

smashed and that the remnants are on the run.")

The United States and Allied forces had staved off an invasion of Australia.

They hoped to win a victory which would not only eliminate the danger of invasion entirely, but would demonstrate American naval and aerial superiority beyond question, in addition to paying Japan the second installment, after the bombing of Tokyo, on its Pearl Harbor debt.

It was believed that the American forces had sunk a second Japanese aircraft carrier but Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters had no confirmation.

MacArthur reported in his latest communique:

"The great naval and air battle off the northeast coast of Australia has temporarily ceased.

"This action represents the continued efforts of the Japanese to extend their aggressive conquests toward the south and southeast.

"The first efforts aimed at expanding Japanese air bases, but our air force consistently and effectively attacked Japanese air fields during the past six weeks, dislocating Japanese plans through the destruction of installations and aircraft.

"Our reconnaissance revealed a gradual building up of Japanese naval and transport elements for co-ordinated attack by combined forces, which was initiated several days ago.

"Our naval forces then attacked in interception.

"They were handled with marked skill and fought with admirable courage and tenacity, and the enemy has been repulsed.

"Our attacks will continue."

Japan had received its biggest defeat of the war. It was indicated that now the question was whether the Japanese fleet, with reinforcements, would accept the challenge to further combat.

Though American losses had not been announced, it was understood that they were comparatively light.

First direct reports of the engagement told how United States Navy dive bombers had screamed down on Japanese ships into an inferno of anti-aircraft fire and had blown one aircraft carrier to pieces while a second burst into flames from stem to stern.

Two dive bombers hurtled on the first carrier and landed their bombs squarely on its deck. Great chunks of debris flew from the ship before its torn hulk rolled over and sunk within a matter of minutes.

It was estimated that anywhere up to 2,000 Japanese officers and men went down with it or leaped into the churning sea.

Torpedo bombers joined dive bombers in the attack, it was reported, and set the second carrier aflame.

It was estimated that in all the enemy had lost up to 100,000 tons of warships, as against 114,100 tons lost by the British and 113,435 lost by the Germans in the battle of Jutland, the biggest sea battle of modern history.

What Australia thought of it was told by Prime Minister John Curtin, who yesterday had warned that the menace of invasion might at any hour become an actuality.

"We can be proud of what has been done," he said today. "More than that, we can be grateful. The battle which has temporarily ceased had to be fought as part of the war to save this theater from going within Axis control.

"I have no doubt that other battles will yet be fought as part of the struggle which must continue until the enemy has been defeated or we have been conquered.

"What has been done this week was done only because of the matchless quality, skill and courage of the Allied naval and air forces.

"Australians played an important integral part in the composition of the forces. Australians and Americans side by side have stood together in the cause to which their countries are jointly pledged. I use the word pledged because the nations are pledged."

Capital Jubilant Over Sea Victory

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The capital was jubilant today over the news that a Japanese fleet had been repulsed by Allied forces off Australia with heavy losses.

Official communiques from the navy department and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters and unofficial reports from London and Allied bases in Australia on the struggle that raged since Monday over thousands of miles of the Coral sea added up to one thing:

That the Japanese navy had suffered the greatest setback of its history.

The news was received here with unrestrained joy and was the topic of virtually all conversation. It was on the lips of congressmen and the men in the street, including the thousands of soldiers who are in the capital each week-end from neighboring camps.

If any American vessels were sunk in the engagement, their loss may be announced soon. If ships were damaged, no announcement would be made until they are in port or have been repaired. An announcement could make them easy prey for Japanese submarines.

By the same token, it can be assumed that there are enough American submarines in the Coral sea to finish any crippled Japanese ships unlucky enough to sail their way. Subs are used in nearly every battle of this sort to deal with cripples and stragglers.

The battle leaves the number of Japanese ships sunk, probably sunk and damaged by U. S. forces 243. The United States has lost a total of 37 war vessels from all causes since the Reuben James was torpedoed last October.

British Enthusiastic Over Japanese Defeat

LONDON —(AP)— The British press greeted with enthusiasm today the news of Allied successes in the great sea naval battle, but official quarters cautiously withheld comment pending a full report on the action.

While the most optimistic commentators asserted that the sea fight had definitely forestalled a possible invasion of Australia, more reserved sources said the full significence of the engagement could not be assessed until Allied losses were known.

Naval observers, however, noting the part which Allied planes obviously had played, said the United States navy undoubtedly had learned well the lessons taught by the Java sea battle last March, the sinking of the British battleship Prince of Wales, and battle-cruiser Repulse off Malaya and the destruction of the British cruisers Dorsetshire and Cornwall in the Bay of Bengal.

Chinese Hail Big Coral Sea Victory

CHUNGKING — (AP) — The Chinese press hailed the naval battle in the Coral sea as an Allied victory and said today that a strong Japanese attempt to break the communiction line between Australia and the United States had been crushed.

Sao Tang Pao, army organ, said "the democratic world has been waiting on tip-toes for this news since Japan was bombed April 18."

agency said government officials regarded the Madagascar landings and the Coral Sea naval action as encouraging developments in the global war. Both were timed perfectly because delay would have endangered the security of Australia and the Persian gulf.

Japanese occupation of Akyab, only 60 miles from India, was regarded by these sources as evidence that Japan intends to invade India and they said the Allied forces must continue to harass the invaders in Burma and China to divert their attention from India.

MANSFIELD BUSINESS IN REVIEW

VICTORY HOME SAVES ON VITAL WAR MATERIALS

Mansfielders May Soon Be Building Homes With Stone Bathtubs.

Mansfield residents may soon be turning to the new Victory home as their answer to the government's restriction on critical materials needed for present-day home-building.

The Victory home, the first of which was opened in Washington, D. C., recently, has plastic doorknobs, concrete window weights, cast stone bathtubs, plastic toilet floats and hundreds of other ingenious innovations which have been combined to save 78 per cent of the critical materials usually employed.

Not only is the home built with a minimum of critical materials but also the furnishings are designed to conserve steel, copper, brass and aluminum. Constructed to meet today's conditions, the house nevertheless provides facilities for later adding such conveniences as additional lighting outlets, central heating, and automatic refrigeration without structural changes.

In spite of its many war-time innovations, the Victory Home is in no sense a prefabricated, temporary or emergency house. It is a sound architectural example of what the private home building industry can do to provide necessary housing for the war-workers. The Victory Home can be built in most areas for about $4500. Sponsored by Small Homes Guide, 36 different exterior designs are available to suit individual tastes.

These are based on the same unique tri-level floor level plan which provides both an outdoor and an indoor exit from the basement. The ground floor level provides for a front reception vestibule and in the rear a basement activity area. A second level, up four steps, has a large living room, a kitchen and dining area. Stairs from the living room lead to a bedroom, bath, and study or nursery. The large master bedroom is up four steps from this second level. Ample storage space and closets are provided.

The sets for the original Victory Home are intended as guide-posts for the prospective home builder, to show how spaciousness, charm, and individuality can be attained in the small home. These interiors employ furnishings using non-critical materials. Wood furniture has completely replaced metal. Rugs and linoleum use non-critical cotton; one room for example has a woven paper rug.

Don White Inc., Has Birthday

Has Furnished Scores of Mansfield Homes.

Drawing upon 25 years of experience in the field of interior decorating and furniture construction, M. Don White, manager of M. Don White, Inc., north central Ohio's leading home-decorator service, has successfully completed his first year in business in Mansfield.

Mr. White founded his company and store in Mansfield just a year ago and since then has redecorated scores of homes in Mansfield, Shelby, Galion and other communities in this section of the state.

White's shop has all the necessary equipment on hand to completely change the style of the interior of your home. His reupholstering, drapery and slipcover shops create new things which make homes more attractive, more liveable.

The smart looking shop which you see at 14 North Walnut street houses only a small part of the M. Don White company's facilities. That is only the show-case for the decorating marvels which his employes turn out in his workshops located on North Weldon avenue.

A year ago when White left the Charles Schroer company, after eight years association, to establish his own business, he had only two employes and had them working upstairs over his present showrooms on Walnut street.

Business Expands.

Business grew by leaps and bounds, however, and soon White saw that his shop must expand to handle all the new business he was getting. He searched for weeks for a workshop near his showroom and finally managed to get a garage on Weldon avenue which he transformed to an up-to-date workshop. Today he employs 12 skilled decorating artists.

"In our business, we rely on the beauty of material and fine craftsmanship," says White. "We try to keep all interior decoration free from extraneous design. We plan the use of color to create restful or arresting moods."

In the White showrooms, Mansfielders can find a varied display of furniture of all periods, some made by the leading furniture manufacturers of the country and others turned out in White's own shops.

"We take great pride in our custom-made furniture," says White. "Here you have in one piece great luxury and simple elegance. In custom-made work, we can bring into play all the experience we have with hand-loomed fabrics and hand-tooled furniture.

White comes by his artistic decorative ability naturally, being born in a family associated in the furniture line for more than 50 years.

When he was 17, he went to work with a furniture manufacturer in Grand Rapids, America's furniture center. He made and designed quality furniture both in Grand Rapids and Chicago, his home-town.

About 20 years ago, he went to Philadelphia and it was there that he decided to approach the home-furnishing problem from a broader view, branching out from his study of furniture alone to the whole art of home decorations.

He returned to Chicago from Philadelphia and put into practice many of the principles he had learned in many of Chicago's leading furniture companies.

Next, he went to Hollywood, where he was associated four years not only in preparing sets for the films but also in making furniture and decorating the homes of movie stars and producers. The Hollywood trip led to a voyage to China where White studied the Chinese influence on furnishing and built up many marketing contacts which held to this very day.

Prizes Craftsmanship.

You may admire White's furnishings when they are placed in their showroom settings but to appreciate the quality of the workmanship in his work, you must visit his workshops. The most modern machinery is teamed with craftsmanship to turn out decorator's masterpieces. Before your eyes, pieces of wood become the foundation for what is to be a luxurious davenport covered with imported tapestry. Cloth magically evolves into slip-covers which fit perfectly and drapes with breath-taking colors and design.

Special effects are produced by ingenious design and workmanship.

"Too often," says White, "when a carpenter builds your house, he was not thinking of what kind of furniture you were going to put into it. We work to blend the two together into a pleasing arrangement."

White's company is not without its military value. Back in his workshops, next to the upholstering department stands a battery of sewing machines which are turning out daily equipment for Uncle Sam's signal corps and engineers. White obtained the contract because of the superior sewing ability showed by his employes.

Sport Podge

Just about the best bowling tournament, in the matter of class, to hit this town in recent years is the Colony Recreation singles and doubles starting this week-end.

Rolled from scratch, the $250 guaranteed purse tourney attracts only class "A" bowlers, and only the best of them. The cream of the crop in Ohio kegling circles will appear on the Colony lanes during the next three week-ends.

All the way from Dayton to Cleveland, and even Detroit, top-notch wood collectors are coming for this tourney, and if Mansfield bowling fans miss this free attraction, they can't say they haven't been informed the thing was going on.

* * *

At first blush it would seem that the great Strohs Beer team of Detroit, which rolls Bissman Birdie Brands at the Colony alleys a week from tonight, was drawn into the tournament because of its date with the Birds, but the reverse is true. So I have been informed.

The Detroiters went for the tournament first, and are taking the opportunity of their appearance in Mansfield to roll the match for which Bissman's have been angling all winter.

* * *

Put the dough on the line and the keglers will gather round. That's an old axiom of the alleys. If you don't believe it, compare the popularity of the Inter-City and the so-called Ohio state tourneys.

* * *

This week-end sees the close of the Northern Ohio Women's bowling tournament at Tiffin, and unless some fair pin punisher gets hotter than a dropped dumpling, Mansfield's Lois Williams is all set to step up and claim the all-events crown with her total of 1801 sticks of kindling.

She still holds a 33-pin lead over the second place E. Ricard of Cleveland, with the really good Mary Sutter of Lima in third position with 1747.

* * *

The Williams-Kellogg team of Mansfield clings to fifth place in the doubles with a one-pin margin over the six-place Mansfielders, Hazel Hilborn and Kate Cheney at 1158 and 1157.

But the Colony Recreation team, in second place several weeks ago with 2755, has been pushed down to eighth place in the team standings.

* * *

Now here's a little thing that no one knows:
What am I gonna do when the alleys close?

DODGERS AND GIANTS HELP NAVY RELIEF

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The Navy Relief society realized $59,859.25 from yesterday's Dodgers-Giants' game at Ebbets field and probably will get several hundred more dollars from unaudited contributions.

The entire proceeds from the Giants-Dodgers' game at the Polo Grounds Aug. 3 will go to the Army Emergency relief.

Yankees Coast In First

Red Sox Defeated by Philadelphia Hurler.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE world champion New York Yankees are in sole possession of first place in the American league today, thanks to the Philadelphia Athletics and Phil Marchildon.

* * *

All American league teams idle yesterday except the Athletics and the Boston Red Sox, who charged into Philadelphia with the idea of wiping out the half-game margin between themselves and the Yanks by slapping down the lowly A's.

* * *

But Marchildon, ace of Connie Mack's pitching staff, had an idea of his own. He tossed a five-hitter and gave the Athletics their first victory of the year over the Boston club, 2-1.

The defeat kept the Sox from grabbing a share of first place and knocked them out of a second place tie with Cleveland and into the number three spot, a half game behind the Indians and a full game behind the Yanks.

Three games entertained the fans in the National league and all ran true to form with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals—the big three in the standings—coming out on top.

In Brooklyn, the first twilight game in the history of the majors established an Ebbets field record of 42,822 paid admissions as the Dodgers tripped the New York Giants, 7-6.

The game, first of 16 to be staged in the two leagues this season for the benefit of the armed forces, produced $59,859.25 for the Navy Relief society.

* * *

Dolph Camilli's seventh home run of the year in the seventh inning was the margin of victory for the Brooks.

* * *

The Pittsburgh Pirates remained a game and a half behind the Dodgers by whipping the Chicago Cubs, 6-4. Rip Sewell went all the way for his fourth victory against one defeat.

The third place St. Louis Cardinals cashed in on home runs by Enos Slaughter and Ray Sanders and the eight-hit pitching of Lon Warneke for a 5-2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds. Warneke kept the Reds in check except for homers by Frank McCormick and Ray Lamanno.

Springfield Team Favored

Defend Championship In Miami Relays.

OXFORD—(AP)—Springfield in Class A and Rome-Stewart in Class B, both defending champions, were looked to as the teams to beat as 47 high schools entered the eighth annual Miami university high school track and field meet finals today.

* * *

The meet, run off with one between Miami's unbeaten team and Michigan Normal of Ypsilanti, has attracted 21 schools and 242 individuals in the Class A division and 26 schools and 234 boys in Class B.

* * *

In qualifying races yesterday for the half-mile relay, the 120-yard high and 220-yard low hurdles, and the 100-yard, 220-yard and 440-yard dashes, Springfield placed runners in each event; while Greenville of Darke county made the second best Class A showing. Rome-Stewart stood out in an otherwise even competition among Class B teams in the qualifying.

Indians Regain Second Place

DETROIT —(AP)— Back in undisputed possession of second place, the Cleveland Indians came here for one game today before opening a home stand of two and a half weeks.

* * *

Although idle yesterday, the Tribe took over the second slot when Philadelphia beat Boston 2 to 1 in the league's only game. Boston and Cleveland had shared runner-up honors until the seventh-place A's chopped down the Bosox.

* * *

Mel Harder, deprived of his chance to face the league-leading New York Yankees when the unmentionable weather descended Thursday, was called to the mound to face Detroit's Al Benton.

Detroit Kegler Seeks Record

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Johnny Crimmins of Detroit needed an even 200 average in his singles and doubles games today to become the 10-year high average bowler in the American Bowling Congress tournament.

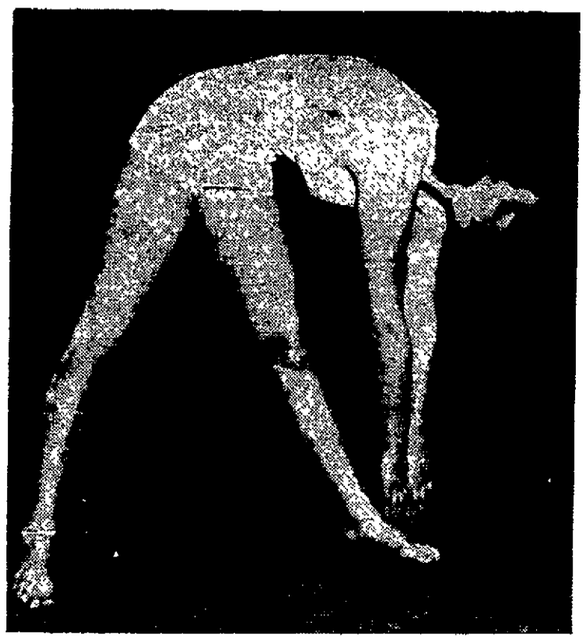
* * *

Crimmins made 167-203-206—576 while rolling last night with his team, Paris Cleaners.

* * *

High scores yesterday: Singles, Glenn Deakin of Detroit, 639; doubles, George Pincket and Harry Abram of Detroit, 1218; five-man, Moose club, Rochester, N. Y., 2828.

Backstroke Champ Limbers Up



A champion always has to keep in trim so glorious Gloria Callen, who holds more records than you can think up, is shown loosening up her muscles before a workout in the Women's Swimming association pool in New York City. She's ready to meet all challengers.

Bucks Battle Wolverines

Contenders For Big 10 Track Title Tangle.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The track team that gave Ohio State its first Western Conference Indoor Track championship in March was to meet Michigan's thinclads today in an outdoor cinder duel that may prove a tipoff on the winner of the Big Ten track championships at Evanston, Ill., May 15-16.

Together with Illinois and Indiana, the Wolverines are regarded as top contenders for the outdoors title which Indiana won last spring. However, the odds are stacked in Ohio's favor, since the Buckeye's performances at the Butler and Drake relays stamp them as one of the finest track aggregations ever produced at Ohio State.

* * *

But the Buckeye-Wolverine meet is featured with a more personal rivalry since Ohio State has only won one outdoor track meet from Michigan in 27 duels since 1907.

* * *

Bob Wright, Big Ten and Butler relay hurdle champion, is expected to clinch first place in the low and high hurdles while George Hoefflinger, another Buckeye track star, will probably battle Michigan's McCarthy in the highs for second place, and the Wolverine's Thomas and Ohio's LeRoy Collins in the low hurdles for a similar spot.

He'll Quit If He Fails Now

Gaffke Thinks It's Time He's Making Good.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Fabian Gaffke, rookie Indian outfielder, is glad that he was born right-handed, for it may win him a regular birth with the Cleveland ball team this season.

Gaffke is the only outfielder in the tribe who hits from the right side of the plate, and since it is rare for a team to go along without a right-handed hitter, Gaffke seems likely to stick.

"If I don't," Gaffke says, "I'm through with baseball."

He figures that after being kicked around the minors for twelve years, he must either make good with the Indians now, or leave baseball for good.

* * *

"I am a machinist or sorts, by trade," he says. "I have spent most of my winters in machine shops. If I don't make good with the team, and don't get called for army service, I'll go into a war plant."

* * *

In regard to returning to the minors, Gaffke says: "There is nothing left in the minors for me. A fellow with a wife and young daughter can't get very far on the salary they pay."

Now 27 years old, Gaffke started his baseball career as a catcher in 1931. He played on home town semi-pro teams for three years and then went to Des Moines, where he became an outfielder and batted .302. He became the property of the Boston Red Sox, and spent three years on a Bosox farm.

He played with several other professional ball clubs and this year the Tribe decided to give him a chance after he batted .305 and knocked in 97 runs for Minneapolis. Gaffke has always ranked high in the runs-batted-in department.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Down in Baltimore they'll tell you that last week's little race at Churchill Downs was just a tune-up for today's Preakness—and if you listen long enough they'll almost prove it. . . . For instance, 15 started in the Derby and only seven of them were entered for the Preakness (a couple weren't eligible) and you can count on your fingers the Derby winners that have gone on to take the big Maryland race. . . . But you got to hand it to Louisville for emptying the visitors' pocketbooks and making them like it. . . . Joe Louis and Jimmy Braddock, the man from who Joe won the title, will get together tomorrow for a coast-to-coast radio interview.... Headline: "Durocher to retire to bench"—the umps done told him.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Deak Morse, St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Caledonian-Record (May 6): "Absurdity of the day: How can we possibly speak of the 'gallant' Yankees, the 'gallant' Shut Out and such when on this day the mighty men of Corregidor, many of them heroes of the battle of Bataan, have finally given their last ounce of devotion."

* * *

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.

Baseball writers can't come right out and say it's raining these days so they have figured out some amazing ways of getting the idea across (usually after enough time has passed so it doesn't make any difference.) . . . A Chicago Tribune scribe wrote from Philadelphia: "Unusual conditions arose in the second inning and the umpires called time, fearing the loss of a crease in their pants. After a short wait, the crease, umpires and ball players returned to the field, thus revealing no military information to the enemy." . . . And Gene Kemper of the Topeko (Kans.) Daily Capital put it this way: "There are things which cannot be mentioned in the papers these days which help explain Marty Errante's ineffectiveness at Springfield Tuesday night. . . . He's no spitball pitcher."

Doerr Leads Major Hitters

Slugs .431 Average In Fifteen Games.

NEW YORK—(AP)—As the 1942 baseball pennant races near the end of the first month, the leading batter of the major leagues is Second Baseman Bobby Doerr, playing his sixth season with the Boston Red Sox.

* * *

Benched by an injury early in the season, Doerr has participated in only 15 of Boston's 22 games but he has been poison to opposing pitchers since he returned to the lineup.

* * *

The National league leader is Danny Murtaugh, sophomore infielder of the Philadelphia Phils, with .359. Three are five American leaguers, however, whose averages top that of Murtaugh, based on 40 or more times at bat.

The five leaders in each league:

Blues Capture Top Position

Take Double-Header From Louisville.

(By Associated Press)

The Kansas City Blues, operating on the theory that one run is as good as a dozen so long as it means victory, have shoehorned themselves into a tight first place in the American Association.

They got three, finally, with a twin killing yesterday against Louisville, 1-0 and 2-1.

* * *

Milwaukee, meanwhile, lost the percentage leadership by playing only one contest, winning it 6-5 from Indianapolis.

* * *

Technically the Blues are a half game back of Milwaukee, but lead on percentage points, having played fewer games.

St. Paul further humiliated Columbus with a 4-1 and a 4-0 drubbing. The Red Birds have won only seven games in 20.

Minneapolis battered Toledo, 8 to 1, with four homers in three innings but dropped the nightcap, 11-3, as the Hens reversed the four-bagger orgy with three and pounded two pitchers for 13 hits.

MARINE SOUTHPAW DEFEATS COCHRANE

BOSTON —(U.P.)— Private Garvey Young of the marines, a southpaw with a pile-driving left, held a 10-round decision over welterweight champion Freddy Cochrane of the navy today and was anxious to have another go at him with the 147-pound title at stake.

Young, who had the champion on the floor in the seventh, took seven rounds in winning a 10-round split decision in Boston Garden's before 6,000 fans last night. Young weighed 149, Cochrane 146.

Badgers Near Big 10 Title

Need Victory Today Over Iowa Hawkeyes.

CHICAGO — (AP) — Wisconsin's baffling Badgers will just about wrap up the Big Ten baseball championship if they beat Iowa again today.

Bunching four runs in the eighth inning yesterday, the Badgers clipped the Hawkeyes, 7-4, in the feature conference attraction. It was the third victory for undefeated Wisconsin and Iowa's second loss in nine starts.

* * *

Other series to be completed today were Purdue at Indiana, Northwestern at Michigan, Illinois at Ohio State and Minnesota at Chicago.

* * *

Jack McLain homered in the third with one aboard to give Ohio State a 2-1 victory over Illinois. Michigan remained deadlocked with the Buckeyes for third and fourth by beating Northwestern, 6-2, on Sophomore Irv Boim's five-hitter.

The Purdue Boilermakers won 4-1 over Indiana. Chicago bowed to Minnesota, 16-0.

The fisherman's theory that when the moon is full, fishing is at its worst, has received an official test by Stillman Wright, aquatic biologist for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, at Fish Lake, Utah. An expert, fishing the lake with flies for his fourth summer, made, when the moon was at its full, catches averaging 33.1 per cent less than those made by him at new moon. Trolling and shore fishing by other sportsmen showed similar advantages in fishing at the new moon, the figures being 26.1 and 22.2 per cent more respectively.

PROVIDENTS MEET COLUMBUS GIRLS

Mansfield's twice state champion girl softball team, the Provident Loans, make their second appearance of the season tomorrow at 2 o'clock at North Lake park when they meet the strong Wilks Meats team of Columbus.

The Providents opened last Sunday by splitting a double header with Cuyahoga Falls, and are anxious to improve their early record for the season.

Carbetta Foe Does Run-Out

Declares Paul Too Tough an Opponent.

Out of the ring for nearly a year, Mansfield bantamweight boxer Paul Carbetta missed a comeback effort last night at Toledo when his opponent decided that Paul was too tough.

Carbetta had been booked for a prelim on the Bob Montgomery-Carmen Notch card, going against Tony Carto of Philadelphia.

* * *

The two boys were examined and weighed in together, and then Carto recognized Carbetta. He had seen the Mansfielder fight in the Boston national A. A. U. tournament a year ago.

* * *

Carto and his manager immediately declined the bout, even though they were threatened by a 90-day suspension from the ring by the Toledo commission.

However Carbetta was matched for two bouts this month, meeting Vic Saccoia, 1939 Golden Gloves champion of Detroit and Chicago, at Detroit, May 18, and taking on Frankie Girard of Toledo, May 20, at Toledo.

Girard is the boy Carbetta challenged a year ago when the Toledoan knocked out Mansfielder Leonard Waddell at Fremont. They were booked for a bout here, but Gerard failed to show.

Charleston and Springfield Lose

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— Springfield and Charleston were out of the unbeaten class in the Mid-Atlantic league today but the Cardinals remained at the top of the standings with four wins and one loss with West Virginians second on three victories and a defeat.

* * *

Springfield and Zanesville divided honors in a double-header here last night, Zanesville taking the seven-inning opener 3 to 0 and Springfield capturing the nightcap 6 to 5.

* * *

Canton scored its initial Mid-Atlantic victory in the first home game of the season, downing Charleston 11 to 1. Erie, still without a win, took over undisputed possession of the cellar spot as its game at Dayton was postponed.

Today's schedule: Canton at Erie, Zanesville at Charleston, Dayton at Springfield.

Probate Judge, Richland County, O.
(May 9, 16, 23, NJ '42)

ORDINANCE NO. 185

An ordinance providing for the issuing of bonds of the Village of Lucas, Richland County, Ohio, for the purpose of the improvement of the general water works, including water mains and connections.

Whereas, at an election held on the fourth day of November, 1941, on the proposition of issuing bonds of the Village of Lucas, Richland County, Ohio, for the purpose hereinafter stated in the sum of Eighteen Thousand Dollars ($18,000.00) and of the levying of a tax outside of the limitation imposed by Article XII, Section 2, of the Constitution of Ohio to pay the interest and principal of such bonds, and more than 65 per centum of those voting on the proposition voted in favor thereof, and,

Whereas, the council has requested the village clerk to issue his certificate as to the estimated life of the property, assets or improvement proposed to be acquired or constructed from the proceeds of the bonds hereinafter referred to, and the village clerk has certified to this council such estimated life as exceeding five years, and has further certified the maximum maturity of such bonds as forty years,

Whereas, the notes issued in anticipation of the issuing of the bonds hereinafter referred to are about to fall due.

Now, therefore, be it ordained by the council of the Village of Lucas, Richland County, Ohio:

Section 1. That it is deemed necessary to issue bonds of the Village of Lucas, Richland County, Ohio, in the principal sum of Seven Thousand Six Hundred Fifty Dollars ($7,650.00) in order to provide a fund for the purpose of the improvement of the general water works, including water mains and connections, and to provide a fund for the payment of not to exceed one year's interest on said bonds. That such bonds shall be issued in one lot and that anticipatory notes have been issued in anticipation of the issuing of such bonds.

Section 2. That bonds of the Village of Lucas, Richland County, Ohio, shall be issued in the principal sum of Seven Thousand Six Hundred Fifty Dollars ($7,650.00) for the purpose aforesaid. Each of said bonds shall be in the denomination of Four Hundred Fifty Dollars ($450.00) and said bonds shall be dated August 1, 1942 and shall bear interest at the rate of three per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of October and the first day of April of each year until the principal sum is paid, provided, however, that if said bonds are sold, bearing a different rate of interest than heretofore specified, such bonds shall bear such rate of interest as may be provided for in the resolution of council, approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows: the first bond shall be due and payable April 1, 1943; the second bond shall be due and payable October 1, 1943; and one bond April 1, and one bond October 1, thereafter of each year until all said bonds are paid, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantial equal semi-annually installments.

The principal and interest of all of said bonds shall be payable at the office of the Lucas State Bank of the Village of Lucas, Richland County, Ohio.

Section 3. That said bonds shall express upon their face the purpose for which they are issued, that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance, and shall be signed by the Mayor and Clerk and sealed with the corporate seal of said village. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall bear the facsmile signature of the village clerk. Said bonds shall bear such consecutive numbers as the village clerk shall determine.

Section 4. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds, promptly when, and as the same falls due and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all the taxable property in said village of Lucas, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall not be less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Section II of Article XII of the Constitution. Said tax shall be levied outside the ten mill limitation.

Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with all interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when and as the same fall due.

Section 5. That said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund in their official capacity, and if said trustees refuse to take any or all of said bonds, then said bonds not so taken shall be advertised for public sale and sold in the manner provided by law under the direction of the Finance Committee and the Clerk, but not for less than their par value and accrued interest; the bond sale advertisement shall state that any one desiring to do so, may present a bid or bids for such bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore fixed, provided, however, that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-quarter of one per cent, or multiple thereof; the amount of the bond or certified check to accompany bids shall be Seventy-Six Dollars and Fifty Cents ($76.50), and being not less than 1% of the amount of bonds to be sold, the proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premium and accrued interest thereon and the amount of said bonds issued for interest, shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose; the premium and accrued interest received from such sale and the amount of said bonds issued for interest shall be transferred to the Sinking Fund to be applied in the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds in the manner provided by law.

Section 6. The Clerk is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.

Section 7. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed May 7, 1942.
Attest:
L. V. SNIDER,
Clerk of Council,
ARTHUR H. DARLING,
Mayor.

Ten Start In Preakness

Shut Out Tries For Two Victories In Row.

By MASON BRUNSON

BALTIMORE, Md.—(AP)—Prospects of the most slam-bang battle in the Preakness stakes in years lured racing fans by the thousands to Pimlico today to see Shut Out, the Kentucky Derby winner, try to make it two in a row against the nation's best three year olds.

Shut Out and nine others, including his handsome stablemate, Devil Diver, were named for this 52nd running of the Maryland Jockey club's historic race, with the winner due to pick up $56,000 or $58,000—the richest purse since Victorian won an even $60,000 for Harry Payne Whitney in 1928.

* * *

Officials expected a crowd of 40,000 to 45,000—as many people as ever have jammed the compact little plant outside Baltimore to witness the mile and three-sixteenth event at 4:55 p. m. (EWT).

* * *

There is no Omaha, no Bimelech, no War Admiral, no Whirlaway, in this Preakness, leaving the run for the brown-eyed susans as wide open as any renewal in the history of the race dating back to 1873.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's entry of Shut Out and Devil Diver was favored at 8-5 in the overnight call-over.

Only one of the ten probable starters was deemed doubtful. That one is Warren Wright's Sun Again, an early favorite of the Derby before Trainer Ben Jones scratched him because he was short in his conditioning.

* * *

If Sun Again goes, there'll be three fresh horses trying to keep Shut Out from repeating. The others are Maryland-bred Colchis, owned by R. Sterling Clark, the international sportsman, and English-bred Domingo, running for Louis B. Mayer, the movie tycoon.

* * *

Completing the lineup are Albert Sabath's Alsab, second in the Derby and still trying to prove he has the stuff that made him last year's juvenile cham; Emerson F. Woodward's Valdina Orphan, third in the Derby; Ben F. Whitaker's Requested, hero of the Wood Memorial; William Woodward's Apache, winner of the Experimental handicap, and Mrs. Barclay Douglas' Fair Call.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

5-9
AND WHAT A BRAVE LITTLE PERSON SHE IS. THAT CRAZY MAN MIGHT HAVE SHOT HER! SHE RISKED HER LIFE TO SAVE MINE, BLESS HER! IT ISN'T RIGHT THAT HER LIFE SHOULD BE CLOUDED NOW WITH SUCH AN UNHAPPY MEMORY— IT JUST ISN'T RIGHT!
DOCTOR TAYLOR DIDN'T SOUND VERY HOPEFUL! WELL, IF CARSON LIVES HE'LL HAVE TO BE PUT INTO SOME INSTITUTION FOR THE INSANE. HE'S UNDOUBTEDLY UNBALANCED! I WONDER HOW—WHY—HE CHANGED SO? WHAT MADE HIM A WICKED MAN? HE WAS A GOOD BOY.
THAT FRIGHTFUL SCREAM HE GAVE WHEN THE WEIGHT STRUCK HIM STILL RINGS IN MY EARS!

STOCK LEADERS CONTINUE GAIN IN DAY'S TRADE

Steel Holders Encouraged By WPB Report Showing Ship Demands Met.

NEW YORK — Leading stocks continued on the upward trail in today's market proceedings.

Up fractionally were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chesapeake & Ohio, Phelps Dodge, General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda and Sears Roebuck.

Holders of steels found some satisfaction in the statement of the war production board disclosing steel plate shipments on maritime commission orders in April met the tonnage requested for the second successive month. The commission received 280,000 tons from a record output of 895,971 tons.

Market analysts saw further confirmation of increasing wartime industrial momentum in federal estimates that the value of new machine tools, presses and other metal-working machinery shipped during March amounted to about $108,600,000. This was 73 per cent more than in the like 1941 month.

BATTLES SUBS

U. S. Vessel Stages Running Fight, Survivors Reveal.

SAN JUAN, P. R. —(INS)— Fifty-two survivors of a torpedoed American merchant vessel who arrived in San Juan today described an eight-hour running battle they fought against four enemy submarines, one of which they probably sunk before being forced to leave their own sinking ship.

The battle occurred in Caribbean waters April 28. All of the survivors were brought ashore uninjured by a naval vessel after battling stormy, days.

"After the first torpedo hit about 2.30 a. m., we were still able to continue at full speed for 15 minutes, although shells and tracer bullets were flying all over the place," related Second Officer Leif M. Olsen, of Providence, R. I.

FOUR TRAPPED IN COAL MINE

Rescue Workers Seek Men Entombed by Gas Explosion.

GILLESPIE, Ill.—(INS)—Rescue workers labored feverishly today in an attempt to reach four men trapped 300 feet below the surface of the Superior Coal company mine at Eagerville, 50 miles northeast of East St. Louis.

The men were entombed in a shaft following a gas explosion.

Hampered by gas filling the chambers of the mine, rescue crews began fighting their way toward them last night, but early today no trace of the four had been found.

RAF PLASTERS BALTIC PORT

Smashes at Sub Training Base In Warnemunde During Night Attack.

French side shook the cliffs of the English south coast.

It was the fourth German Baltic town smashed since the RAF opened its "second front" early last month. The others were Rostock, Luebeck and Kiel.

The Germans centered their rage in another "Baedeker raid" on a southeast coast town (they identified it as Norwich, famous for its ancient ruins and Norman cathedral) early today.

Claim Nazis Suffer 60,000 Casualties

MOSCOW—(INS)—Russian armies on the Leningrad front killed or wounded 60,000 German soldiers during the months of March and April, the Moscow radio reported today while Soviet forces on the central front prepared for "decisive battles" against the Nazis.

Red army units, assisted by guerillas, have dislodged the Germans from strategic, highly-fortified positions in the Karelian and Leningrad sectors and the Russian air force has carried out heavy raids against Nazi positions in Norway and Finland during an aerial battle still in progress, it was learned.

British Withdraw To Northern Burma

NEW DELHI — (INS) — British forces have been withdrawn from positions in central Burma to new lines to the north, without contacting the enemy, an official communique announced today.

The Japanese air force is very active in the Chindwin river area, the communique said, dive bombing and machine gunning military objectives. It is feared civilian refugees en route to India have suffered casualties.

RITES SUNDAY

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at Biddle church, east of here, for William Gundrum, 79, well-known Crawford county farmer, who died Friday.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Fred Light of Shelby, Mrs. Lee Foltz of near Shelby and Mrs. Charles Mink of east of Bucyrus; a brother, Joseph of Shelby and a sister, Mrs. Albert Heller of Sandusky township, Crawford county.

SOLDIER SONS BUY EMBLEMS

Honor Mothers With Greetings And Cabled Flowers.

SYDNEY,—(INS)—Thousands of American mothers will learn tomorrow that their soldier sons in Australia haven't forgotten them.

An Australian benevolent society with headquarters in Sydney reported today that it had sold at least 50,000 Mother's Day emblems to American soldiers for shipment to the United States.

Cable offices estimated that the "Yanks" have also ordered about 2,000 Mother's Day greetings cabled to their homes.

Still hundreds of others are taking advantage of modest rates arranged by authorities to have instructions cabled to the United States for delivery of flowers to their mothers on the American holiday.

THEATERS

Dorsey Orchestra.

Jimmy Dorsey and his orchestra make their film debut in "The Fleet's In," Dorothy Lamour's starring vehicle at the Ohio. The band plays seven hit tunes and supplementary entertainment in this nautical comedy is furnished by Betty Hutton, America's No. 1 jitterbug, Cass Daley, eccentric singer, and Lorraine and Rognan, comedy dance team. William Holden plays the girl-shy gob who manages to be the only sailor of interest to Miss Lamour in her role of a ballroom singer.

* * *

Chiller-Diller.

Lionel Atwill appears in both pictures in the double horror bill showing at the Madison. In "The Strange Case of Dr. Rx," he plays an unknown doctor who has his own reason for strangling six men acquitted of various criminal charges. Others in the cast are Anne Gwynne and Mona Barrie. Lon Chaney, jr., follows in the footsteps of his famous father by playing the frightening monster in "The Ghost of Frankenstein," the second picture. Atwill, Ralph Bellamy and Bela Lugosi are in the cast.

* * *

Adventure Film.

Adventure on the seven seas in a three-masted sailing vessel is pictured in Tyrone Power's "Son of Fury," showing at the Ritz. Power plays a nameless urchin who goes through life battling for his birthright and ultimately becomes the ruler of a South Sea paradise. Three women cross his path, the roles played by Frances Farmer, Elsa Lanchester and Gene Tierney, the latter cast as a native girl. "Youth America," with Jane Darwell, William Tracy and Lynne Roberts is the second production.

* * *

Blondie Comedy.

The popular Bumsteads go to college in the current Park attraction, "Blondie Goes to College," featuring Arthur Lake and Penny Singleton as the famous comic strip couple. Baby Dumpling also gets his share of formal training by entering a military school when his parents decide they need more education. Kay Kyser and John Barrymore fall for a publicity scheme to boost their popularity in "Playmates," the co-attraction. Kyser tea

TILLIE THE TOILER

THESE COVERALLS OF BILL'S ARE JUST THE THING TO PROTECT YOUR UNIFORM, MARTY
THAT'S THE STUFF
SURE, AND ANYTHING THAT WILL FIT BILL WILL FIT ME
WHY, YOU LOOK SO MUCH LIKE BILL IT SEEMS AS IF YOU WERE BILL
WELL, DON'T MAKE A MISTAKE AND SAY THINGS YOU'D WANT ONLY BILL TO HEAR. HEH-HEH
OH
UGH!
WAM
WELL, YOU DON'T HAVE TO TRY TO FIX MY FACE SO I WON'T LOOK LIKE BILL 54
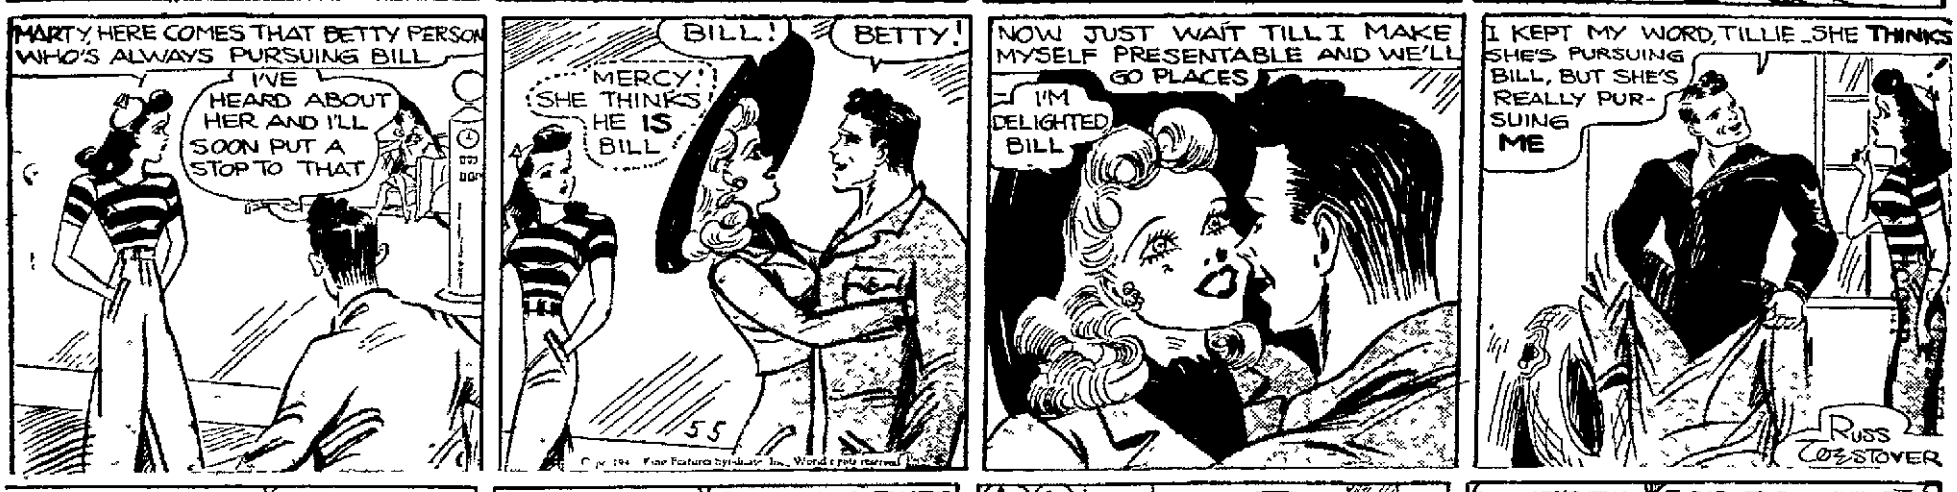
RUSS COSTOVER



MARTY, HERE COMES THAT BETTY PERSON WHO'S ALWAYS PURSUING BILL
I'VE HEARD ABOUT HER AND I'LL SOON PUT A STOP TO THAT BILL!
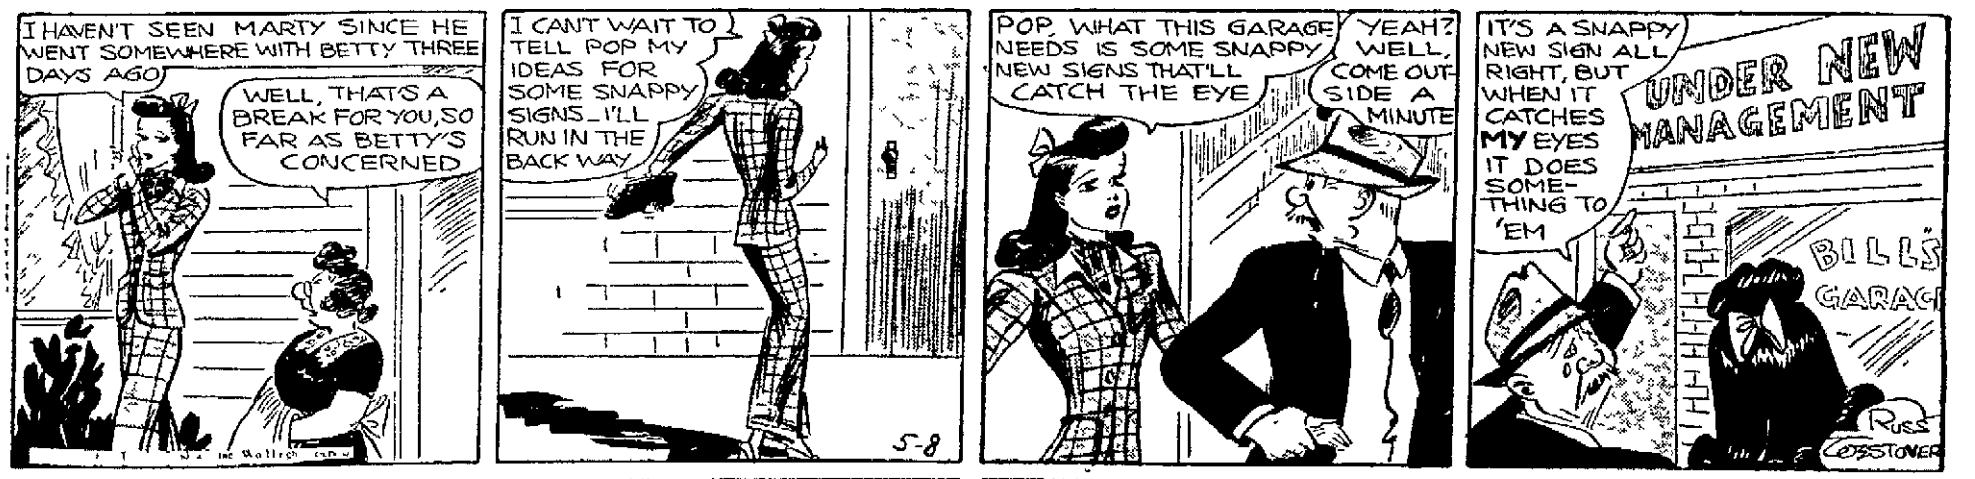
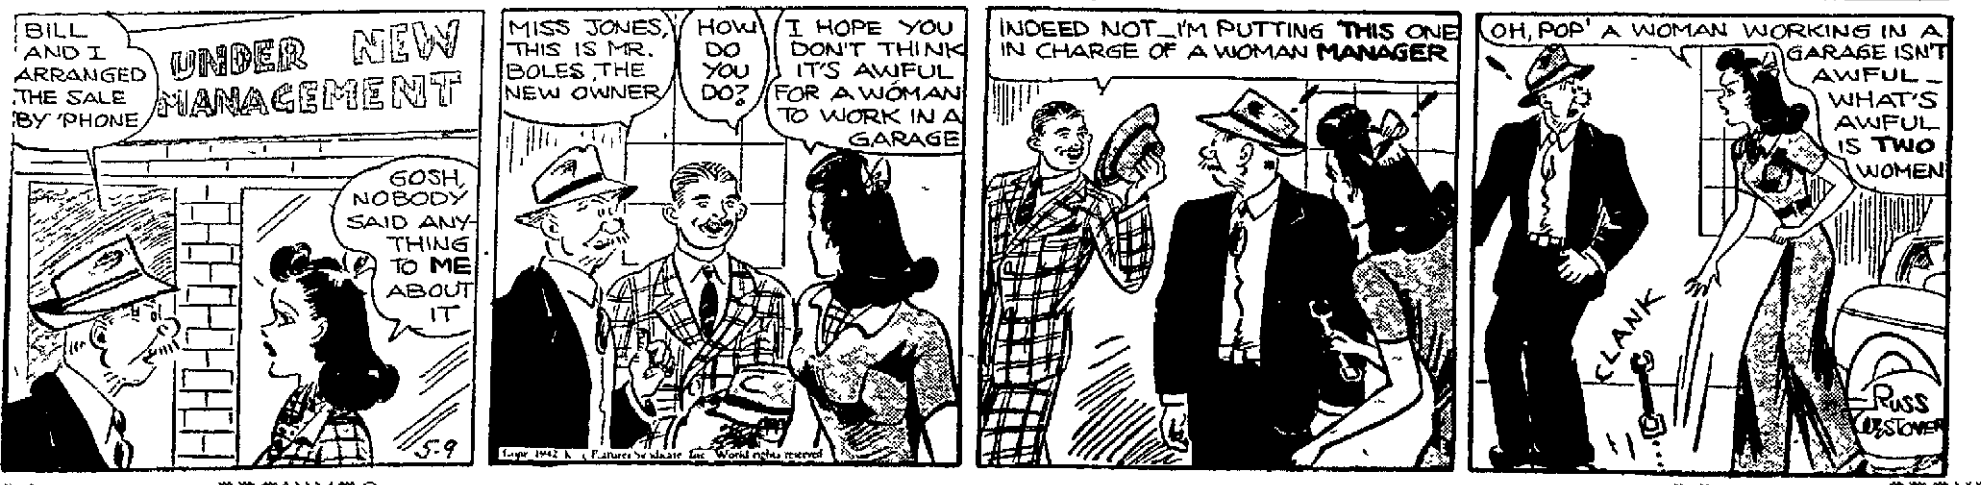
BETTY!
MERCY! SHE THINKS HE IS BILL
55
NOW JUST WAIT TILL I MAKE MYSELF PRESENTABLE AND WE'LL GO PLACES
I'M DELIGHTED BILL
I KEPT MY WORD, TILLIE. SHE THINKS SHE'S PURSUING BILL, BUT SHE'S REALLY PURSUING ME
RUSS COSTOVER

I'VE GOT MY REASONS FOR PRETENDING TO BE BILL. YOU MUST HELP ME
OKAY, MARTY, BUT IF YOU GET INTO TROUBLE, DON'T BLAME ME
WHY, BILL, YOU DIDN'T TELL ME YOU'D JOINED THE NAVY
BUT I HAVE. THAT'S WHERE I'VE BEEN ANCHORS AWEIGH
56
OH!
WHANG BANG
WHAT'S THE MATTER?
I DID IT, SO YOU'D STOP SINGING, MARTY. IF YOU SING, SHE'LL KNOW YOU AREN'T BILL. BILL CAN SING
RUSS COSTOVER

I THOUGHT MARTY WAS GOING TO HELP YOU, TILLIE
OH, HE WENT AWAY WITH THAT BETTY AND HE'S PRETENDING TO BE BILL. PLEASE KEEP HIS SECRET
WELL, I'D BETTER PRETEND TO BE BILL AND GET SOME WORK DONE AROUND HERE
MERCY! WHAT HAPPENED?
!!!
OH, THAT'S BILL'S PRESS. WON'T IT WORK?
NOT FOR ME IT WON'T. I WAS PRETENDING TO BE A MECHANIC, BUT I GUESS YOU CAN'T FOOL A DRILL-PRESS
RUSS COSTOVER



I HAVEN'T SEEN MARTY SINCE HE WENT SOMEWHERE WITH BETTY THREE DAYS AGO
WELL, THAT'S A BREAK FOR YOU, SO FAR AS BETTY'S CONCERNED
I CAN'T WAIT TO TELL POP MY IDEAS FOR SOME SNAPPY SIGNS. I'LL RUN IN THE BACK WAY
5-8
POP, WHAT THIS GARAGE NEEDS IS SOME SNAPPY NEW SIGNS THAT'LL CATCH THE EYE
YEAH? WELL, COME OUTSIDE A MINUTE
IT'S A SNAPPY NEW SIGN ALL RIGHT, BUT WHEN IT CATCHES MY EYES IT DOES SOMETHING TO 'EM
UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT
BILL'S GARAGE
RUSS COSTOVER



BILL AND I ARRANGED THE SALE BY 'PHONE
UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT
GOSH, NOBODY SAID ANYTHING TO ME ABOUT IT
5-9
MISS JONES, THIS IS MR. BOLES, THE NEW OWNER
HOW DO YOU DO?
I HOPE YOU DON'T THINK IT'S AWFUL FOR A WOMAN TO WORK IN A GARAGE
INDEED NOT. I'M PUTTING THIS ONE IN CHARGE OF A WOMAN MANAGER
OH, POP! A WOMAN WORKING IN A GARAGE ISN'T AWFUL. WHAT'S AWFUL IS TWO WOMEN
KLANK

TOOTS AND CASPER

TOOTS, MY BOSS'S DAUGHTER, "JANICE", GOT MARRIED, BUT WE DON'T KNOW TO WHOM!
BOSS, HAS JANICE RETURNED TO TOWN YET?
CASPER, I HAVEN'T HEARD FROM HER SINCE SHE ELOPED LAST FRIDAY.
COLONEL HOOFER, DID YOUR SON, "OSCAR", MARRY JANICE PLUNKER?
I DON'T KNOW! I HAVEN'T SEEN HIDE OR HAIR OF HIM SINCE LAST FRIDAY MORNING.
JIMMY MURPHY

TOOTS, I WISH JANICE PLUNKER WOULD SHOW UP AND TELL US WHOM SHE MARRIED.
GEE, I'M WORRIED! IF SHE MARRIED OSCAR HOOFER, HE'LL BE PUT IN CHARGE OF THE FIRM! HE'D BE MY BOSS...
JIMMY MURPHY
ANY TIME A CASPER TAKES ORDERS FROM A HOOFER THEY'LL KNOW IT! I'D QUIT FIRST!
LET'S NOT CROSS BRIDGES UNTIL WE COME TO THEM, CASPER-- AND BESIDES, NO NEWS IS GOOD NEWS!
5-5

COLONEL HOOFER, LET'S GO SEE IF MY BOSS HAS LEARNED WHOM HIS DAUGHTER MARRIED.
CASPER, MEBBE SHE ELOPED LAST FRIDAY WITH MY SON, OSCAR--- I HAVEN'T SEEN HIM SINCE THEN, EITHER
JANICE JUST WIRED ME SHE'LL BE HERE AT NOON TODAY WITH HER HUSBAND.
AND SHE STILL DOESN'T SAY WHO HE IS ???
5-6
Copr 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
HERE'S JANICE NOW IN THAT TAXI---
A MAN IS WITH HER, BUT I CAN'T MAKE HIM OUT YET.
WHOM DID JANICE MARRY? TOMORROW WE'LL ALL KNOW!
JIMMY MURPHY
DADDY, HERE'S MY HUSBAND, JUNIOR PIPP.
GOODNESS, JANICE, YOU'VE SURELY KEPT US ALL IN SUSPENSE.
SHE DIDN'T MARRY MY SON, OSCAR, AFTER ALL.
Copr 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc. World rights reserved.
CASPER, I'M WORRIED ABOUT OSCAR! WHERE COULD HE BE ALL WEEK?
MAYBE HE JUST WANTED TO GET AWAY FROM YOU FOR A WHILE, COLONEL HOOFER
5-7
LOOK! THERE'S OSCAR ON MY PORCH NOW!! COME, CASPER! LET'S FIND OUT WHERE HE'S BEEN ALL WEEK---
JIMMY MURPHY
OSCAR, MY BOY, WHERE HAVE YOU BEEN ALL WEEK?
DAD, I WAS ASHAMED TO COME HOME WHEN JANICE PLUNKER MARRIED JUNIOR PIPP--- AFTER ME TELLING EVERYBODY I WAS GOING TO MARRY HER!
SHE PLAYED ME FOR A SAP! I FOUND OUT SHE GOT ME TO ESCORT HER EVERYWHERE TO MAKE JUNIOR PIPP JEALOUS, BECAUSE HE STEPPED OUT ONE DAY WITH ANOTHER JANE.
Copr 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
I'M SORRY SHE HURT YOUR FEELINGS, SON!
I DON'T CARE ABOUT MY FEELINGS, DAD, BUT SHE SURE RAISED HECK WITH MY PRIDE.
5-8
JIMMY MURPHY
CASPER, YOUR BOSS'S DAUGHTER MISSED A FINE HUSBAND WHEN SHE DIDN'T MARRY MY SON, OSCAR.
SHE MISSED HAVING YOU FOR A FATHER-IN-LAW, SO THAT EVENS IT UP, COLONEL HOOFER.
Copr 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc. World rights reserved.
TOOTS, IT JUST WASN'T MEANT FOR A HOOFER TO BE MY BOSS, AFTER ALL, A DANDELION CAN'T COMPETE WITH AN ORCHID!
JIMMY MURPHY
BOSS, YOU NEARLY GOT COL. HOOFER FOR A RELATIVE.
CASPER, HE WOULDN'T HAVE BEEN A RELATIVE--- HE'D HAVE SEEMED MORE LIKE A PLAGUE--- THE FATES WERE WITH ME THIS TIME.

LEAVING PRINCE CAESAR'S RECEPTION, X-9 WAITS IN THE LOBBY OF A WASHINGTON HOTEL...
PRESENTLY, SAVANNAH SALEM ENTERS, AND X-9 FOLLOWS HER INTO AN ELEVATOR...
FLOORS, PLEASE?
TEN.
TEN.
YOU? WHY— WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY FOLLOWING ME?
WE'LL DISCUSS THAT LATER, MY PRETTY "MAID"!
I'M WARNING YOU — YOU'D BETTER NOT FOLLOW ME
SAVANNAH! YOU SOUND POSITIVELY OMINOUS!
STOP AT THE NEXT FLOOR! THIS GEN— THIS PERSON IS GETTING OFF!
BUT X-9'S HAND REACHES OUT... THE NEXT INSTANT THE ELEVATOR JOLTS TO A STOP
WHAT HAPPENED?
LOOKS LIKE THIS SEE-SAW BIRD CAGE, IS HUNG UP!
THAT'S ODD! THE FUSE SEEMS TO BE MISSING!
ARE WE GOING TO BE STUCK IN HERE ALL NIGHT? DO SOMETHING!
NO USE GETTING HYSTERICAL, SAVANNAH! THIS TRAP-DOOR WILL LET US OUT THE TOP!
A MINUTE LATER...
OKAY... HERE WE ARE!
ALL RIGHT... YOU CAN GIVE THE FUSE BACK TO THE ELEVATOR OPERATOR!
WHY— WHATEVER DO YOU MEAN? AREN'T YOU GOING TO ASK ME IN TO GET OFF SOME OF THIS GREASE?
SORRY I HAD TO BARGE IN ON YOU FOR A WASH-UP AFTER THAT CLIMB FROM THE ELEVATOR... I'LL GO NOW.
I'M PERFECTLY WILLING TO BE FRIENDS WITH YOU — ON JUST ONE CONDITION — THAT YOU DON'T ASK ANY QUESTIONS!
OKAY WITH ME, GAL.
I'M GOING TO POWDER MY NOSE... 'PHONE DOWN FOR SOME COFFEE, IF YOU LIKE FINE

WAITING FOR SAVANNAH TO RETURN, X-9 THUMBS THROUGH A MAGAZINE.
HELLO... WHAT'S THIS?
A HANDKERCHIEF.
THIS LOOKS LIKE THE SAME HANDKERCHIEF PRINCE CAESAR HAD... IT HAS A SERIES OF OBLONG SLOTS CUT IN IT!
THE G-MAN PLACES IT OVER A PAGE AND MAKES A HASTY TRACING OF THE LOCATION OF THE PERFORATIONS.....
RIPPING OUT THE PAGE, X-9 THRUSTS IT INTO HIS POCKET... REPLACES THE HANDKERCHIEF IN THE MAGAZINE!...
GOOD NIGHT! THANKS FOR THE HOSPITALITY, SAVANNAH... WILL I BE SEEING YOU AGAIN?
GOOD-BYE!
OKAY... I UNDERSTAND! WELL, MAYBE WE'LL BE RUNNING INTO EACH OTHER — SOMETIME. S'LONG.
X-9 HURRIES TO FBI HEADQUARTERS AND PORES OVER THE MARKED PAGE TORN FROM A MAGAZINE IN MISS SAVANNAH SALEM'S ROOM.....

GLORYOSKY, ISN'T THAT GRAND! IT MEANS EVEN IF YOU ARE JUST A LITTLE KID, WORKIN' FOR YOUR COUNTRY IS BETTER THAN JUST STANDIN' 'ROUND HOLLERIN', "HURRAY-HURRAY"
DARRELL McCLURE
LISTEN, ANNIE .. THERE GOES THE BELL .. THAT MEANS THE END OF OUR FARM-WORK FOR TODAY
DUNG DONG DING DONG
MY GOODNESS -- THAT HOUR PASSED AWFUL FAST
NOW WHAT ARE YOU LAFFIN' AT?
THE WAY YOU'RE CLEANING YOUR RAKE WITH A HANDFUL OF WEEDS -- HA-HA HA
IT'S SO FUNNY- YOU ALWAYS CLEAN YOUR TOOLS SO CAREFUL -YOU'D THINK THAT OLD RAKE WAS A DIAMOND BRACELET OR A PEARL NECKLACE
HONEST, HANNA -YOU OUGHTN'T LAFF- MR OLIVER SEZ YOU GOTTA BE NICE TO YOUR TOOLS -OR YOUR TOOLS WON'T BE NICE TO YOU!
DARRELL McCLURE
I HAVE SENT FOR ONE OF MY LITTLE GUESTS WHO IS THE SIZE AND AGE YOU ARE INTERESTED IN
I DON'T LIKE A CHILD TO BE TOO THIN OR TOO FAT
GOOD MORN---
GREAT HEAVENS! I WOULDN'T DREAM OF ADOPTING THAT CHILD -- THE VERY IDEA IS RIDICULOUS!! SHE'S NOT-- KINDLY WAIT OUTSIDE A MOMENT, ANNIE
HOW SILLY OF ME .. I FORGOT TO TELL YOU I WANTED A CHILD WITH BIG, BLUE EYES -- LONG, YELLOW CURLS--
I AM SORRY, MADAM -- I FEAR IT WOULD BE USELESS TO DETAIN YOU ANY LONGER
5-6
DON'T FEEL TOO BAD, ANNIE .. THE LADY WANTED A LITTLE GIRL WITH LONG, GOLDEN CURLS .. I AM SURE THE LADY WAS MERELY THOUGHTLESS AND NEVER REALIZED THE CRUELTY OF HER HASTY WORDS
DARRELL McCLURE
MAYBE HE'S JUST A STRANGER OR MAYBE HE WANTS TO ADOPT A LITTLE BOY OR GIRL-
NAW .. HE CAN'T FOOL ME! THE WAY HE ACTS I CAN TELL HE'S SOME KIND OF AN OFFICIAL -- HE WALKS JUST LIKE HE OWNED THE WHOLE PLACE!!
5-7
THAT'S THE BUILDING INSPECTOR -- HE WAS HERE YESTERDAY, TOO-
WHAT MAKES HIM ACT SO BOSSY?
I DUNNO .. MAYBE IT'S A HARD JOB OR MAYBE HE AIN'T FEELIN' GOOD TODAY -- BUT YOU CAN'T BLAME AN INSPECTOR FOR INSPECTIN' .. THAT'S WHAT INSPECTORS ARE PAID FOR
DARRELL McCLURE
HA, HA -- EVERY TIME I SEE THAT BUILDING INSPECTOR I HAVE TO LAUGH -- HE REMINDS ME OF A BIRD DOG, RUNNING AROUND LOOKING MAD, 'CAUSE HE CAN'T FIND ANY RABBITS
TOOL
PLEASE, HANNA -- DON'T LAFF-- IF THAT MAN SEES YOU LAFFIN', HE MIGHT GET MAD AN' MAKE TROUBLE FOR MR. OLIVER!
58
YOU MUST BE JOKING -- MR OLIVER IS THE SMARTEST MAN IN THE WHOLE WORLD -- HE'S SMARTER THAN BUILDING INSPECTORS OR ANYBODY ELSE
OH, I KNOW MR. OLIVER IS TERRIBLE SMART, 'CAUSE HE SEZ THERE'S SO MUCH TROUBLE IN THE WORLD ONLY A FOOL HAS TO WASTE TIME LOOKIN' FOR IT!
DARRELL McCLURE
AS BUILDING INSPECTOR, I ADMIT THE PLACE IS OKAY -- BUT THE WHOLE SET-UP IS FUNNY! I'M NOT BLIND -- YOU'RE RUNNING AN ORPHAN ASYLUM WITHOUT A CHARTER OR LICENSE OR--
I BEG YOUR PARDON, SIR--
THIS IS MY PRIVATE RESIDENCE -- EVERYONE SHARING MY HOME IS AN HONORED, NON-PAYING GUEST -- AT LIBERTY TO COME AND GO AT ANY TIME -- THE FACTS REGARDING THEIR PARENTAGE AND FINANCIAL BACKGROUND ARE UNIMPORTANT
MY GUESTS ARE A LAW-ABIDING, SELF-RESPECTING, HAPPY CIRCLE OF FRIENDS WHOM I LOVE AND ADMIRE
WELL, I STILL SAY THE WHOLE SET-UP LOOKS FUNNY TO ME!
DARRELL McCLURE
GEE, ZERO, THAT BUILDING INSPECTOR DIDN'T EVEN SEE US WHEN HE PASSED -- HE WAS SCOWLING AND MUMBLING TO HIMSELF AN' HE LOOKED LIKE HE WAS AWFUL MAD AT SOMEBODY!

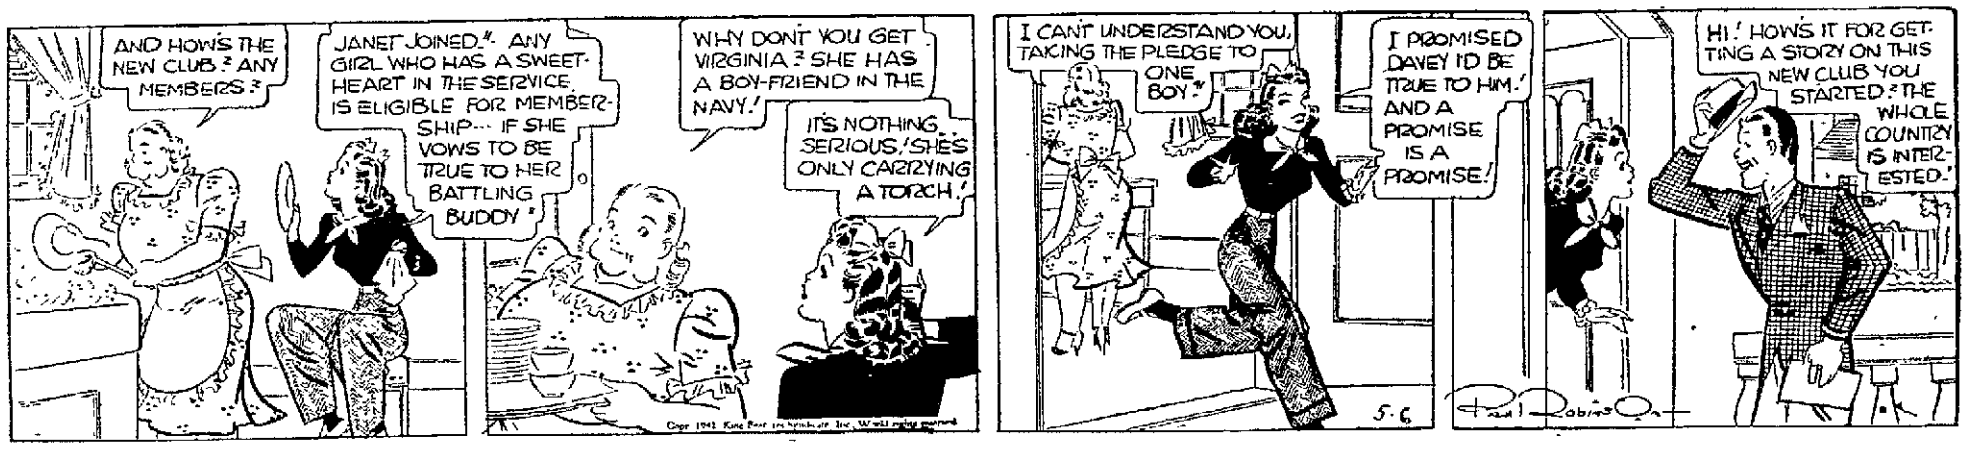
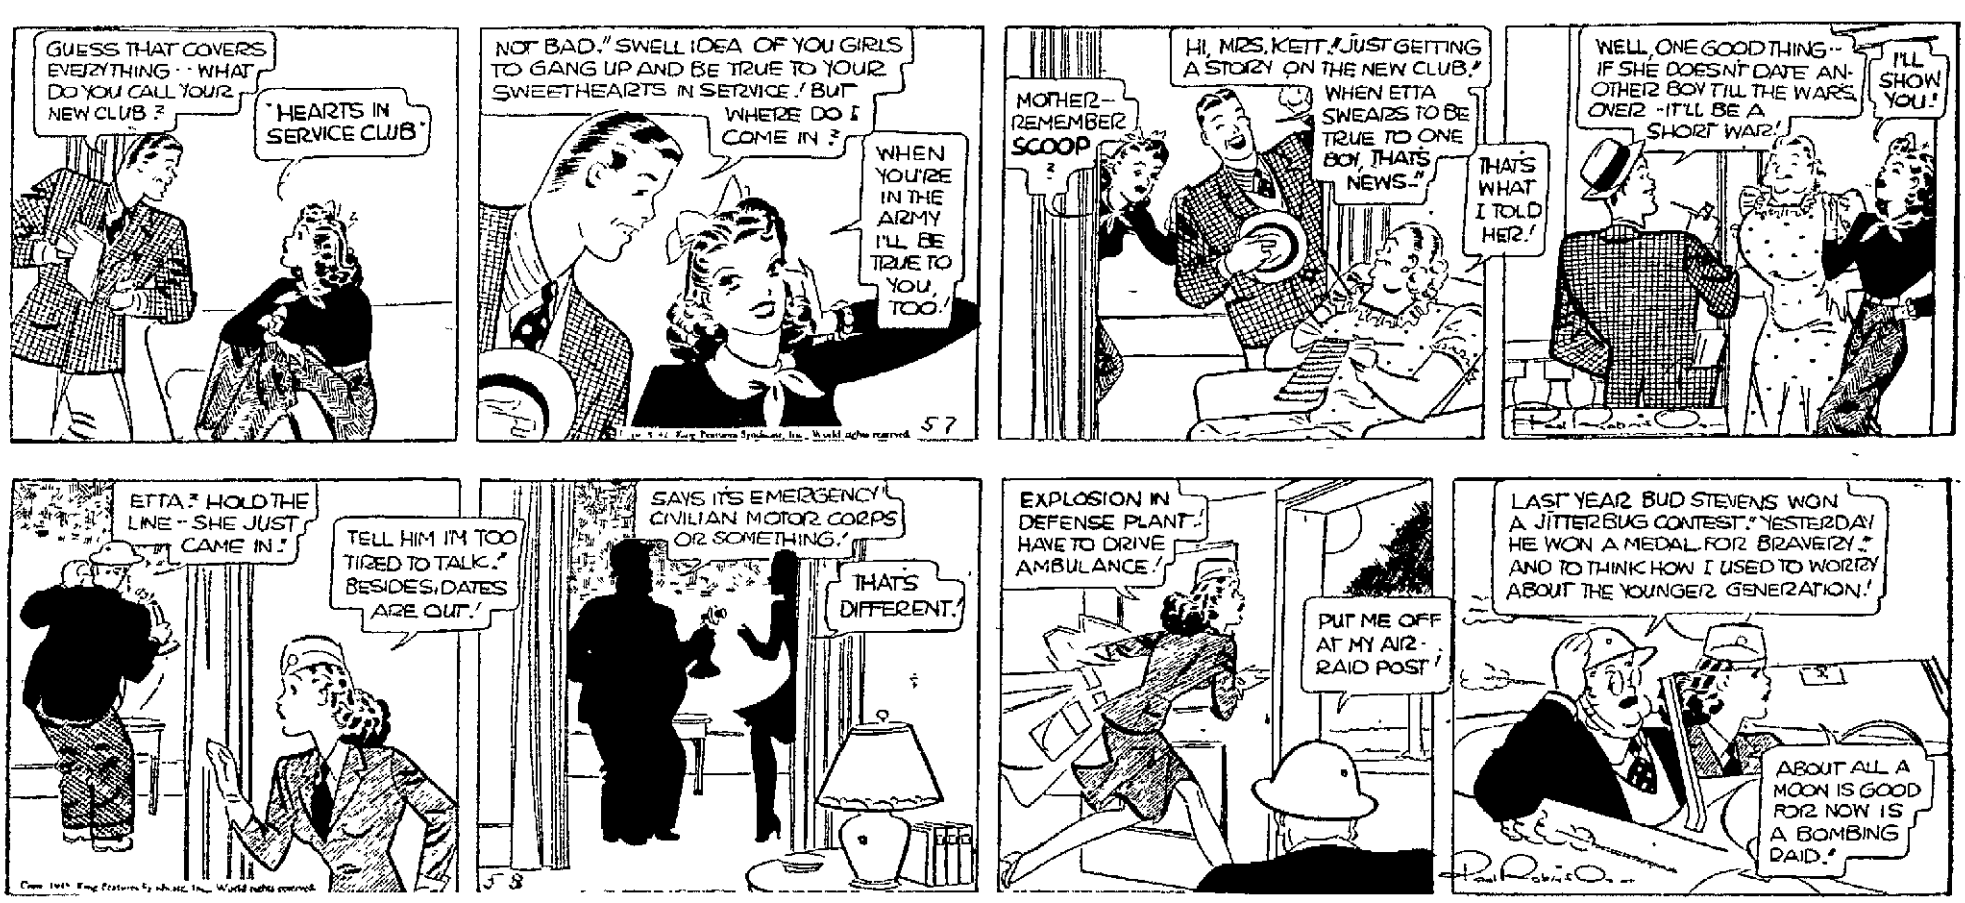
ETTA KETT

HELLO! AREN'T YOU MARY WHEELER?
YES, AND YOU'RE ETTA KETT! EVERYBODY IN TOWN KNOWS YOU!
THANKS FOR THE BUILD-UP! EXCUSE ME CRASHING IN LIKE THIS." THERE'S A SWELL MOON OUT--GOTTA DATE?
I WAS JUST WRITING TO MY BOY-FRIEND IN CAMP!
H-M-M." TOMMY--HE'S CUTE!
YES, THAT'S HIS PICTURE--
WE'RE ENGAGED! OF COURSE, IT'S LONESOME WITH HIM AWAY--BUT I KNIT--DO WAR WORK--HAVE A JOB IN A DEFENSE PLANT--I'LL WAIT!
THAT'S WHAT I WANTED TO HEAR." WE NEED YOU IN OUR NEW CLUB!
NOW, LET'S GET DOWN TO CLUB BUSINESS." FIRST--WHO CAN JOIN?
ANY GIRL WHO HAS A SWEETHEART IN THE SERVICE--AND SWEARS TO BE TRUE TO HIM, IS ELIGIBLE." --I THINK!
SWELL! THAT'S CLEAR ENOUGH." --NOW, ABOUT DATES--ARE THEY DEFINITELY OUT FOR THE DURATION?
YES!
NO!
I THINK THAT DEPENDS ENTIRELY UPON WHETHER YOU'RE ENGAGED OR NOT! PERSONALLY I SEE NO HARM IN A BOY CONVOYING YOU AROUND--NOTHING SERIOUS, I MEAN!
SO TO DATE OR NOT TO DATE IS UP TO THE GIRL--! BUT YOU MUST BE TRUE!"--TO YOUR FIGHTING SWEETHEART!" NOW, WHAT ELSE?
WE NEED A NAME FOR OUR CLUB."



AND HOW'S THE NEW CLUB? ANY MEMBERS?
JANET JOINED." ANY GIRL WHO HAS A SWEETHEART IN THE SERVICE, IS ELIGIBLE FOR MEMBERSHIP--IF SHE VOWS TO BE TRUE TO HER BATTLING BUDDY?
WHY DON'T YOU GET VIRGINIA? SHE HAS A BOY-FRIEND IN THE NAVY!
IT'S NOTHING SERIOUS, SHE'S ONLY CARRYING A TORCH!
I CAN'T UNDERSTAND YOU, TAKING THE PLEDGE TO ONE BOY."
I PROMISED DAVEY I'D BE TRUE TO HIM! AND A PROMISE IS A PROMISE!
HI! HOW'S IT FOR GETTING A STORY ON THIS NEW CLUB YOU STARTED? THE WHOLE COUNTRY IS INTERESTED!
GUESS THAT COVERS EVERYTHING--WHAT DO YOU CALL YOUR NEW CLUB?
"HEARTS IN SERVICE CLUB"
NOT BAD." SWELL IDEA OF YOU GIRLS TO GANG UP AND BE TRUE TO YOUR SWEETHEARTS IN SERVICE! BUT WHERE DO I COME IN?
WHEN YOU'RE IN THE ARMY I'LL BE TRUE TO YOU, TOO!
HI, MRS. KETT! JUST GETTING A STORY ON THE NEW CLUB." MOTHER--REMEMBER SCOOP?
WHEN ETTA SWEARS TO BE TRUE TO ONE BOY, THAT'S NEWS."
THAT'S WHAT I TOLD HER!
WELL, ONE GOOD THING--IF SHE DOESN'T DATE ANOTHER BOY TILL THE WARS OVER--IT'LL BE A SHORT WAR!
I'LL SHOW YOU!



ETTA? HOLD THE LINE--SHE JUST CAME IN!
TELL HIM I'M TOO TIRED TO TALK." BESIDES, DATES ARE OUT!
SAYS IT'S EMERGENCY! CIVILIAN MOTOR CORPS OR SOMETHING!
THAT'S DIFFERENT!
EXPLOSION IN DEFENSE PLANT! HAVE TO DRIVE AMBULANCE!
PUT ME OFF AT MY AIR-RAID POST!
LAST YEAR BUD STEVENS WON A JITTERBUG CONTEST." YESTERDAY HE WON A MEDAL FOR BRAVERY." AND TO THINK HOW I USED TO WORRY ABOUT THE YOUNGER GENERATION!
ABOUT ALL A MOON IS GOOD FOR NOW IS A BOMBING RAID!
LETTER FOR YOU, DEAR!
EEEEK." IT'S FROM DAVEY."
DAVID? ISN'T HE THE ARMY BOY SHE PROMISED TO BE TRUE TO?
YES, AND A FINE JOB SHE'S DOING OF IT! CAN YOU IMAGINE HER NOT HAVING A DATE IN TWO WEEKS?
LOOK." FEAST YOUR EYES ON THE BACKBONE OF OUR FIGHTING FORCES." HE'S TAKEN OFF POUNDS!
SAY! HE LOOKS HANDSOME IN A UNIFORM!
WHO'S HOWARD WINTON?
MUST BE THE WINTON'S BOY!
YES, AND HE'S THE PLAY-BOY OF THE FAMILY!
